The Surprise Japan Attack

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — More than a generation has passed, but tiny droplets of oil still filter to the surface of the water, bursting into a kaleidoscope of color above the sunken battleship Arizona.

Twenty-five years later, the memory of Dec. 7, 1941, lingers, a recollection of horror, of disbelief.

The men who died that day, 2,409 of them, now are names on the walls of a gleaming white memorial.

The memorial, inside Pearl Harbor, straddles the sunken battleship from which the oil still seeps and aboard which remain the bodies of 1,102 officers and men of the U. S. Navy.

Gene Lindsey of Jefferson City, Mo., president of the Pearl Harbor Survivors Assn., has led an unprecedented number of survivors to Hawaii for the 25th anniversary of the Japanese attack. Lindsey was a signalman aboard the destroyer Chew, moored about 500 yards from famed Battleship Row when the first bombs fell.

"Everything happened all of a sudden," he recalled. "When the Arizona was hit, she just exploded."

A bomb set off the battlewagon's forward ammunition magazine. A "one-in-a-million" bomb went down her stack. She was hit by torpedoes. More bombs dropped on her decks and flames shot hundreds of feet into the air.

Throughout that day, Pearl Harbor's waters — now so tranquil, so serene — were aflame with burning oil, with men struggling toward the shores of Ford Island.

In the 110 minutes the Japanese attack lasted, the U.S. Navy lost more men than it lost

Viet Civilian Leader Killed By Assassins

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two youthful gunmen assassinated a leading South Vietnamese politician in Saigon today, and police announced that one of the assassins confessed he was a Viet Cong terrorist.

The gunmen, firing at close range from a motorcycle, killed 58-year-old Tran Van Van as he rode in his car to his office.

SUSPECT SEIZED

A short time later,one of the pair was seized when he fell off the motorcycle near the residence of U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. The other assassin escaped.

Van, a wealthy, Paris-educated landowner long prominent in Vietnamese politics, was a leading member of the Constituent Assembly which is writing a constitution for South Viet Nam.

OVERSHADOWS WAR

His slaying a few blocks from Premier Ky's office overshadowed war developments. Only minor ground actions were reported from the fighting fronts although U.S. bombers kept up their raids over North Viet Nam. U.S. destroyers shelled supply barges just off the North Vietnamese coast.

U.S. officials reported the discovery of two 62-pound satchel charges in an ammunition dump at Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport, which was attacked by a

Kaiser Buys Hospital In Terra Linda

Purchase of Terra Linda Valley Hospital in San Rafael by Kaiser Foundation Hospitals was announced jointly today by spokesmen of the two organizations.

Dr. Frank A. Lowe, president of the Terra Linda Valley Hospital board, said the transfer of the 97-bed hospital will take place Friday.

Kaiser Foundation owns another hospital site in the nearby Northgate North tract. There was no immediate announcement as to whether purchase of the Terra Linda Valley Hospital means that will be sold.

Karl T. Steil, vice president and regional manager of Kaiser Foundation Hospitals, said the Terra Linda Valley Hospital "will continue to serve the needs of the community as well as members of the Kaiser Foundation Health Plan." He said its facilities will continue to be made available to physicians in the community who apply for staff privileges.

Plans call for addition of surgery and emergency facilities to enable licensing as a general acute hospital, Steil said. The hospital now is licensed as a specialized medical hospital for acute, sub-acute, convalescent and rehabilitation care. It has its own laboratory, X-ray, pharmacy and physical therapy facilities.

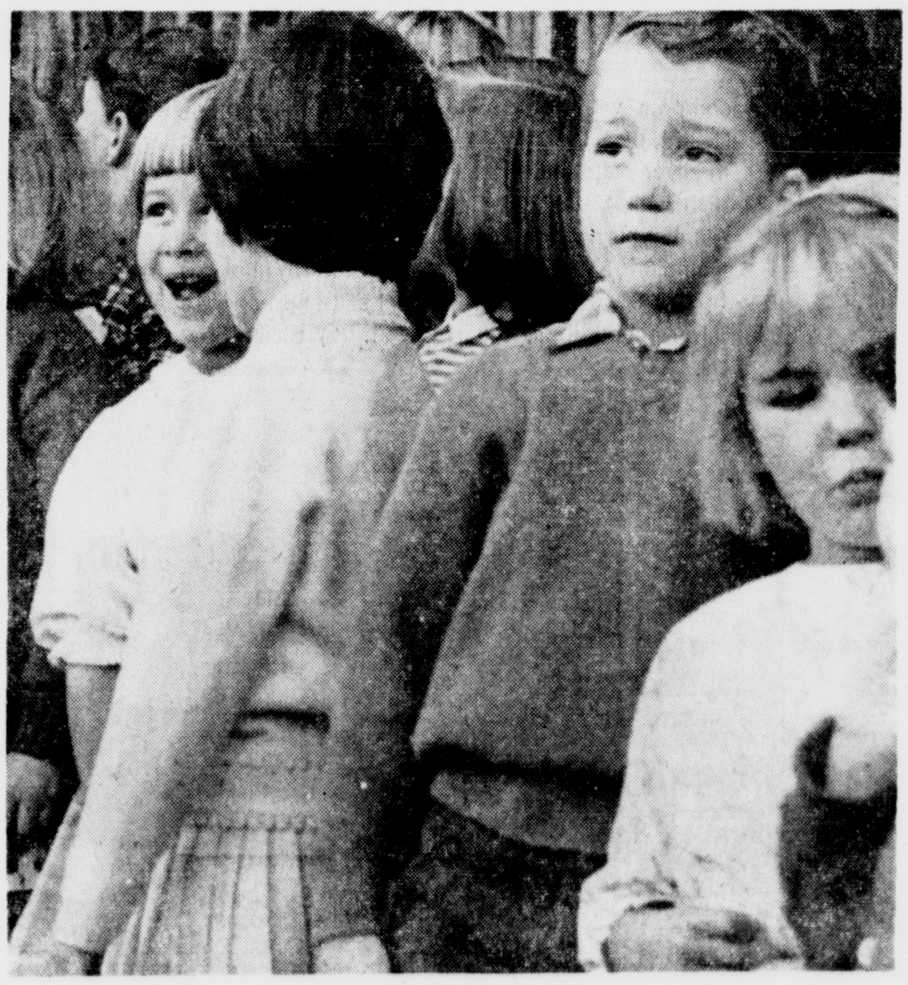
THERE GO OUR OLD CLASSROOMS!

Youngsters of Mill Valley's Park School got out of class for awhile today—to watch part of the school get knocked down. A five-classroom wing, declared unsafe by state Field Act standards, was clawed down by a 4,000-pound clamshell bucket operated by Jim Rowlett of Ghilotti Brothers, Inc., San Rafael. The wing, built in 1908, is to be replaced during Christmas holidays with four portable classrooms. Demolition will be completed tomorrow, and the debris cleared Friday, reported Zoellner Construction Co. of Ross, who took the contract at $21,577. Youngsters, as can be seen by their faces (below) showed mixed reactions. (Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean)



Court May Have To Decide Who Controls Bolinas Harbor Future

Who has the right to determine the future of Bolinas Lagoon?

This question may have to be decided by the courts. That was the reluctant conclusion of county supervisors and members of the Bolinas Harbor District board yesterday.

It was agreed that the district's attorney and the county counsel should meet to determine what kind of action could be brought in court to get the question answered.

The question has been a problem ever since the county tried to put open area zoning on the lagoon. The harbor district board said the county had no zoning control over the lands in its domain because they are held in trust by the district at behest of the state Lands Commission.

That debate started nearly two years ago. Since there have been other zoning applications filed and development by the district of a master plan for Marinas and recreation.

The question is still unanswered.

Norman T. Gilroy, who developed the master plan for the district, said the district will go ahead with detailed studies in the second phase of his proposal, regardless of county participation. He urged, however, that the county help in any way it can, probably as the applicant for federal funds to help finance further studies.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr said the jurisdiction question cannot be "swept under the rug," and

Brother Is Saved In Season's First Yule Tree Blaze

The season's first Christmas tree fire did $45,000 damage to an Oak Manor home and its contents last night and almost claimed the life of one of its occupants.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Giammona were asleep in the bedroom of their home at 28 Manor View, just outside Fairfax, when a spark from the fireplace ignited their holiday tree, said Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom.

"They woke up at 11:29 p.m. to find the house completely filled with choking smoke," he said.

To reach safety, the couple had to probe their way through the smoke, passing through the living room and kitchen, both of which were engulfed in flames.

Mrs. Giammona, about 46, who just returned from the hospital yesterday afternoon after an operation, made it to a side door of the kitchen. Giammona, 57, collapsed, overcome by the smoke, 10 feet from the door.

"He very nearly lost his life there last night," said Bloom. "How he wasn't killed, I don't know. He inhaled such a lot of poisonous gases and smoke."

HIS COURAGE

Bloom said Giammona would have died were it not for the courage of his brother, Sal Giammona, who lives next door at 26 Manor View.

When Mrs. Giammona got to the door, she began screaming for help. Sal, who was playing cards with his brother's three grown children next door, "heard someone holler. I looked out the window and it looked like the whole house was burning up."

When he reached the house, Mrs. Giammona was back in the kitchen, trying to rouse her husband.

"I pushed her out the door, then I went back and dragged my brother out through the doorway. It's a good thing. He would have burned to death for sure," he said.

'QUITE A BEATING'

"I credit Sal Giammona with saving his brother's life," said Chief Bloom. "He did a real heroic thing. He took quite a beating from the smoke, trying to get into the house."

Firemen urged both brothers to go to the hospital and be treated for smoke inhalation. But both said they would be all right without medical attention.

"I'm sort of scared of hospitals," Sal Giammona admitted today.

Six firemen with four fire trucks stopped the blaze after it gutted the living room and kitchen, burned through the roof

WARREN H. WILLIAMS
Ends 43 post office years

Williams To End His Postal Career

Warren H. Williams, San Rafael postmaster for 10 years, will retire Dec. 30, ending a 43-year postal department career.

Williams announced his retirement today as he and his staff in the new Post Office on Bellam Boulevard completed preparations to handle up to 20 million pieces of Christmas mail this month.

"When I started in the postal service," he said, "there were about five clerks at Christmas time, and if we handled 80,000 pieces of Christmas mail it was something. This month, it'll take 125 people added to our regular staff of 235 to take care of it all."

Williams, who has seen the postal service outgrow three buildings in San Rafael, said he had thought of retiring a couple of years ago, "but I wanted to see this building finished and sit in this office for a little while."

The 61-year-old postmaster will retire on 75 per cent of his $14,000-a-year salary. He said his wife, the former Geraldine Jones, whom he married in 1933, recently retired after 32 years of service with Pacific Gas and Electric Co. "I think it would be a good idea to retire together, relax and enjoy life," he said.

Williams was born in San Rafael, "right next door to where I live now" at 216 D Street, he said. He graduated from San Rafael High School in 1924 and began working for the Post Office Department in 1923 as a summer and Christmas sub.

"The starting pay was 62½ cents an hour," he recalled. "Today, it's $2.64." In the same period, postal revenues in San Rafael have risen from $47,000 a year to more than $1.2 million last year.

Williams was appointed assistant postmaster in 1946, became acting postmaster in 1955 on retirement of Charles H. Hayden, and a year later was appointed postmaster by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Apart from the rise in pay and the added help to handle the growing volume of mail, Williams said there has been little change in the methods of mail handling at post offices like San Rafael. The sophisticated machines of automation are for the large centers like Detroit, New York and Chicago, he said.

"Things are about the same here as they have always been," he said. "The big thing about

Sausalito Plans $250,000 Bond Election For Library

The Sausalito City Council last night started action toward a $250,000 bond election March 7 to finance construction of a new library on a city-owned site northeast of Vina Del Mar Plaza.

The city asked City Atty. Leland H. Jordan to prepare a resolution designating the amount and the date to be submitted at the next council session, Dec. 20.

Mrs. Robert Scarborough, president of the library board, reported that cost of the library, including furnishings, architect's fee, landscaping and a 10 per cent contingency fund, would total $424,732.

Under the proposed financing, the city would seek state and federal grants to cover one-third of the cost. The city would finance the remaining two-thirds with $80,000 it has in the library fund, plus the proceeds of the bond issue.

Councilman Jan Paul Dyk calculated that the city would need about $204,000 along with its $80,000 to cover the city's two-thirds share, but councilmen agreed that would be better to seek $250,000 to cover all contingencies.

The council also authorized a contract with architect Aaron Green covering half of his fee for the project, $13,500. Green's fee is 8 per cent of the cost.

'If I'm Bad Teacher, Fire Me'

ROYAL OAK, Mich. (AP)—"If I'm a bad teacher I want to be fired," says William L. Bennett who has opened a public battle over his suspension as a teacher in Royal Oak.

Bennett

"If I'm not a bad teacher I want to be rid of administrative interference so I can teach. It's as simple as that," says Bennett, 36, who has taught for 13 years in the Detroit suburb.

Donald M. Currie, superintendent of schools, suspended Bennett Oct. 7, charging him with 19 counts of defiance of administrative orders and bizarre teaching methods. The charges date back to April 1965.

After the school board upheld the suspension Bennett demanded, and was granted, a public hearing, which has been adjourned until Dec. 14.

Charges against Bennett include his refusal to explain a complaint that he allegedly manhandled the daughter of a school board member, that he insulted administrators in the presence of students, refused to perform nonteaching duties in the library and lunchroom and deliberately had himself arrested by driving his car without 1966 license plates.

Lebanon Has New Cabinet

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Rashid Karami, Lebanon's new premier, formed a 10-man Cabinet today without including any members of Parliament.

Karami, premier in 1958-64 and in 1965, turned to ambassadors and leaders in various fields after he was unable to get parliamentary approval for a Cabinet drawn from the Chamber of Deputies.

Experts Make Error In Russian Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara says U.S. intelligence experts underestimated the number of ocean-spanning missiles the Soviet Union will have in place by mid-1968.

But he says U.S. estimates of the number of long-range missiles now deployed by the Soviets are "remarkably accurate." He added that the error in assessing Moscow's missile-production plans has "no basic impact" on U.S. offensive requirements.

McNamara's disclosures, made yesterday as he talked with newsmen at President Johnson's Texas office, followed his postelection announcement last month that the Soviets are erecting an antimissile defense around major cities.

The Pentagon chief was in Texas for discussions with the President on future military needs and spending.

While admitting national intelligence estimates on Soviet missile deployment fell on the short side, McNamara took unusual pains to stress the United States can deal a crushing nuclear blow to any attacking enemy.

McNamara also said the United States still maintains a 3 or 4 to 1 advantage over the Soviet Union in intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Train Runs Off Rail Killing One

CHICAGO (AP) — An elevated train ran off the rails during a rainstorm today and one of its eight cars plunged 30 feet to the ground, killing one person. Thirteen persons were injured.

Another car was left hanging, one end attached to the train, the other resting on the ground.

The accident occurred near the Chicago Transit Authority station at 41st Street and Indiana Avenue on the South Side.

CTA officials said the cause of the crash had not been determined.

The train was carrying a light passenger load because during the morning rush hour the heavy travel on this CTA division runs from the South Side north toward the downtown business district.

Viet War Costs Upped $9 Billion

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson estimates Viet Nam war costs between now and next June 30 will exceed earlier budget projections by $9 billion to $10 billion.

He plans to ask Congress next month for a supplemental appropriation to bridge the gap, he told a news conference yesterday in his federal building office suite.

The President remained mum about the possibility of a 1967 tax increase, but said facts needed to make a decision are falling into place.

Although Johnson had predicted earlier that war outlays would top the budget figures by anywhere from $5 billion to $15 billion, the figures he cited at the news conference were perhaps a bit lower than many observers had expected.

Johnson went on to say, in response to another inquiry, that he would not speculate whether the new Viet Nam cost estimate plus results of the business investment survey would make a tax hike more or less likely.

The new money request for Viet Nam will boost the defense budget to between $67 billion and $68 billion for the 1967 fiscal year that began July 1. That compares with a budget estimate last January of $58.5 billion.

How much of the defense total is being spent on the war, no one will say.

Johnson made his announcement after devoting much of the day to conferences with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Reagan Gives Officials The Word Start Cutting Down Costs Now

SACRAMENTO (AP) — State agencies are operating under new cost - cutting orders today, required to prove they need more money instead of receiving the automatic budget increases of past years.

Republican Gov.-elect Ronald Reagan sent ripples of surprise through the state government yesterday with a "hold the line" order.

It was his first concrete step in trying to cut down a deficit for next year estimated at between $350 million and $400 million.

The order came as Reagan's aides began work on a spending program that threatens to exceed this year's record $4.59 billion and is likely to require new taxes.

Reagan directed a freeze on all requested increases in the portion of the budget that finances day-to-day operations of state agencies.

This year, that's $1.3 billion of the total spending program.

Affected would be the University of California, the state colleges, the prisons and other state departments.

Officials were informed the budget being prepared for the upcoming 1967 - 68 fiscal year would not include the usual automatic increases.

These increases have been put in the budget every year to pay for such items as increased enrollment at U.C. and the state colleges and bigger populations in the prisons. Sometimes, the legislature would reduce the increases.

But this year, Reagan sharply revised the procedure "in line with his whole approach that there's a lot of fat in these things," said Lyn Nofziger, his press secretary.

In a memorandum signed by Edwin W. Beach, chief of the Finance Department budget division, budget planners were told that departments would now have to prove they need the money.

There was no indication requests would be denied —just the warning that the new administration wanted to take a good look at them.

Unaffected by the order was the bulk of the budget — the grants to local government for schools, welfare and other purposes. These grants — required by law—totaled $3.69 billion in the present budget. Also exempted were seven other categories that the Finance Department said could boost spending by at least $26 million.

Work Resumes At Pulp Plant

EUREKA (AP) — Work has resumed at the Georgia Pacific Corp. pulp mill on Samoa Peninsula after striking dock builders withdrew picket lines.

The brief strike, which idled 250 workers, came yesterday in a dispute relative to the classification of repair work on the docks.

Later the members of Local 34 of the AFL-CIO Pile Drivers and Dock Builders Union and company representatives reached an agreement.

D.A. To Seek Death Penalty For Jack Ruby

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Henry Wade says he again will demand the death penalty for Jack Ruby. The defense discounts Wade's chances for winning it in a new trial of the man who killed Lee Harvey Oswald.

These viewpoints were voiced after Wichita Falls was designated Tuesday as the site of a second trial, possibly in February, as ordered by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Defense counsel pointed out that the appellate court specifically barred the admissibility of testimony by a policeman, heard earlier, which indicated premeditation by Ruby to shoot the accused presidential assassin.

Ruby's lawyers said elimination of that evidence brightened their prospects for a murder-without-malice verdict, which does not carry the death sentence.

in the Spanish-American War, World War I, and Korea, combined.

BITTER LESSON

It was a lesson of unpreparedness, and something that military men say will not happen again. Today, few ships are seen in the harbor. They come, they go. But there is never the assembly of warships like the fleet that was riding at anchor 25 years ago.

On that day, 18 vessels were sunk or seriously damaged. Nine of the 18 were the battleships Arizona, California, Maryland, Nevada, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, Utah, Tennessee and West Virginia. The Utah, like the Arizona, went down with part of her crew trapped aboard. She remains a tomb for 58 men.

Most of the people who were there, or who lived in nearby Honolulu, say today it took them some time to realize that that Sunday morning attack was real.

CAUGHT IN AIR

Martin Vitousek, an associate geophysicist at the University of Hawaii, was with his father in a light plane when the Japanese bombers and torpedo planes dipped down over the Waianae mountain range and sped across the harbor.

Vitousek recalls shouting to his father, "Look! P-40s." He was identifying the planes as U.S. fighters.

And Roy L. Vitousek replied, "P-40s hell! They're Japanese."

Somehow, the two men got their tiny Aeronca down at Honolulu Airport, which also was used by the Army Air Corps at Hickam Field. They dodged bullets as the Japanese began strafing, and made it to cover inside a hangar.

"The people there hadn't realized even then that it was the Japanese," Vitousek said.

Though one of the airport employees was dead, the others thought he'd been killed by an American plane whose pilot had forgotten to empty its guns.

At Hickam, Pvt. Frank Frucci of Niles, Mich., was waiting for his buddy, Bernard Cullinane of Kalamazoo. He looked at his watch.

"Bernie, it's five before eight. If we're going to make it to Mass, we'd better hurry," said Frucci, peering through a barracks window to see what all the noise was about.

At the same time, Pfc. Gabriel Christie of Brooklyn, N.Y., slapped a baseball into a glove, and hung around outside the same barracks waiting for friends. Hearing an explosion, he thought: "Heck, the Navy's working at war games on a Sunday."

In a few seconds, Hickam Field was also to feel the fury of the Japanese attackers. More than 200 Army Air Corps men, some of them buddies of Frucci and Christie, were killed and more than 350 were injured as the attack immobilized the grounded U.S. planes. Hickam is adjacent to Pearl Harbor and was a prime target that day.

Frucci survived the attack and is chairman of the survivors' association Michigan chapter. As such, he is back in Hawaii for the first time in 23 years.

Christie, a master sergeant awaiting retirement, is working in the same barracks building 25 years later. It is now headquarters of the Pacific Air Forces. Cullinane died at his home last March.

Frucci is one of almost 3,000 Pearl Harbor survivors and relatives of the dead who are in Hawaii for memorial services, scheduled to begin at precisely 7:55 a.m. today at the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific, and at sunset at the Arizona Memorial.

"All we want to do," said Lindsey of his fellow association members, "is remember Pearl Harbor...and our men who were killed. This is not just a trip to Hawaii for these men. There will be a lot of tears shed today and yours trusly is not excluded."

County To Pay Extra $10 To Bury Indigents

Marin County will pay an extra $10 to bury indigents—but will still not provide markers for their graves.

Yesterday, supervisors agreed to an increase from $25 to $35 for cement grave liners for indigent burials at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

But pauper burials, now costing the county $360 each, will still be in unmarked graves.

In May, after it was disclosed in the Independent-Journal that indigents were buried in unmarked graves, supervisors called for a report on the cost of markers.

Administrator Alan Bruce said it would cost about $50 each for markers, or $2,000 a year.

Supervisors agreed on May 17 to authorize a fund to accept donations from religious and fraternal organizations toward markers. But so far the fund is nil, according ot County Auditor Controller Michael Mitchell. No donations have been received, so no markers have been purchased.

The increase in the cost of grave liners—a cement lining to the grave which prevents subsidence—was blamed on rising labor and material costs.

Older Youths Take Shots At Two More

Two Novato boys, 12 and 13 years old, were threatened and shot at about 4:30 p.m. yesterday by one of two older teenage boys who were out hunting Novato Police reported.

The older boys were cited to juvenile authorities, one for shooting at the boys and the other for inciting him to shoot.

John L. Kidder Jr., 13, of 583 Louis Drive, and Ronald J. Beard, 12, of 590 Louis Drive, were walking through a field near Franklin Street looking for used cartridges when they met the two older boys, according to police.

As the younger boys walked away, they heard one of the older boys ask the other, "Shall I shoot them?"

The other replied, "Let's scare them."

With that a shot from a shotgun was fired, the pellets striking to the right of Kidder. Another shot was fired with the pellets hitting the dirt on the left side of Beard, police reported.

John L. Kidder Sr., father of one of the boys and assistant chief of the Novato Fire Department, told police he saw the same boys threatening others in a service station later in the afternoon.

Theme Of Party Taken Seriously

Someone attending a "How To Get Rich" party at the Cove apartments, 18 Captain's Landing, Tiburon, apparently took the theme seriously.

Sheriff's deputies said Mrs. Grace L. Dalton of San Francisco, reported she attended the party and her three-quarter length mink coat was stolen from the checkroom.

Mother expresses fear

Mother Tells Fears For Missing Girl

Fear that 15-year-old Sharlene Anne Osborne, missing from her San Anselmo home for three weeks, may die of a heart attack because those with whom she is staying are not aware of her condition was expressed today by her mother.

Mrs. Margaret Osborne of 8 Sunny Drive said Sharlene has a heart condition which has necessitated calling the San Anselmo Fire Department resuscitator squad several times.

She said that when Sharlene begins to gasp for breath, she should breathe into a paper bag to slow her breathing, and a doctor should be called at once.

"I am afraid that whoever she is with won't know what to do," said Mrs. Osborne, pleading that anyone who has seen her daughter communicate with her. Sharlene has been missing since she left home for Sir Francis Drake High School on Nov. 16.

U.S. Taught Valuable Lesson

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) —Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze said today the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor 25 years ago taught the United States unforgettable lessons which must now be applied in Southeast Asia.

Speaking at services at the National Memorial Cemetery of the Pacific, Nitze said that the sacrifice of 2,409 men who died at Pearl Harbor taught the United States it must maintain a deterrent to enemy attack "with strategic forces appropriately deployed and tactical defensive forces ready to move wherever they are needed."

He said that Pearl Harbor also taught "that we must be prepared to prevent the flaunting of international agreements and treaties, by military force if necessary."

Nitze reminded his audience of 900 survivors and their families that "peace has yet to come to Asia, and the United States once again is fighting there. A new and powerful menace looms."

He said that the surprise bombing of Dec. 7, 1941, demonstrated that freedom cannot be preserved by policies of neutrality and isolation.

He said that as well as the militaristic lessons learned, the sacrifice of so many American lives helped to change the Japan of 1941 into "a major power on the side of peace and respect for international law, a staunch friend and a fortress of democracy in the Pacific."

The Navy took the occasion to correct a popular misconception that the Arizona has never been decommissioned. It was decommissioned Dec. 29, 1941, and was stricken from the list of Navy battleships one year later.

The Navy said the Arizona now is in the same category as a national cemetery.

'Oh!' And Meanings

TILBURG, Holland (UPI) — How many ways can you say "Oh?" A newspaper here said it had found the probable champion in Theo Wingaard, Jr., who claimed he could pronounce "Oh" with 27 different meaningful inflections.

Jesse E. Berry In Good Condition

Jesse E. Berry, Marin City community leader, was reported in good condition today in Marin General Hospital following surgery for an undisclosed ailment. He was admitted to the hospital a week ago.

Berry is chairman of Marin City Community Services District Board.

in some places, and licked close enough to char the Giammona's bedroom door.

There was smoke and heat damage throughout the building, owned by A. Von Rotz of San Anselmo. Chief Bloom estimated $20,000 damage to the structure.

The fire destroyed all the personal belongings the Giammonas had in the house, the chief said. "Everything was gone except the few clothes thay had on their backs—all their furniture and clothing."

The Giammonas estimated their personal loss at $25,000, Chief Bloom said.

Bloom said th Giammonas had a fire in the fireplace before retiring and one of the sparks popped out to ignite the Christmas tree.

"The tree was just too close to the fireplace. I'd like to caution others in the county to be especially careful where they place their trees this year. One or both of these people could have lost their lives last night," the chief said.

Board Unanimous In Route Delay

By RICHARD LYTTLE

Marin County supervisors want more time for more study on Route 17.

The vote on a resolution to ask more study yesterday was unanimous, but it brought one of the sharpest splits among the supervisors in many months, with Supervisors Byron W. Leydecker and Ernest N. Kettenhofen in bitter minority.

They agreed, however, that the resolution to be presented to the State Division of Highways at tomorrow's hearing should have the support of all board members.

"This whole damn thing is a stalemate by a bunch of hogwash," Kettenhofen said.

"You can put anything in it (the resolution) you want," Leydecker said. "It's by and large useless."

At one point Supervisors Thomas T. Storer and Peter H. Behr, who came out strong against freeways after the Nov. 21 protest hearing at Olney Hall, suggested the State Division of Highways delay further studies until after a report of the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission has been completed.

"You'd just be telling the State Division of Highways to get the hell out of Marin County; that would be the effect of the thing," Leydecker charged.

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker agreed that such a request would stiffle planning in Marin since so many things depend on location of an east-west road in Central Marin.

Behr said he was sorry about being "difficult."

"You're not difficult, you're impossible," Leydecker declared.

Discussed were freeways, expressways and just plain highways, along with Storer's call for a study of "balanced transportation."

"I don't understand what you mean by balanced transportation," Leydecker said. "Are we talking about ferry boats? How are you going to get a ferry boat across the county? You think people are upset about a freeway, wait until you start digging that canal."

However, Storer got his phrase into the resolution calling for no second hearing by the state until after the county has had a chance to study Route 17 as it relates to "Balanced transportation needs" of Marin.

Veteran board member William A. Gnoss, who took little part in the exchange, finally moved for adoption of the resolution. He said after the board adjourned that it was the worst board session he had ever sat through.

The resolution calls for study of lower than freeway standards for the route. Expressway and conventional highway were suggested as altenates, but it was decided not to get specific on the point.

The resolution also asks study of putting the route through unpopulated areas, with funds saved to be allocated to cities.

"That's just inconceivable that the state legislature would go for such a thing," Leydecker said.

The resolution further asked study of reversable lanes, the route between Fairfax and Sleepy Hoolow, and the route between Marinwood and Terra Linda, and that extension of studies beyond Nicasio Hill be eliminated at this time.

It also asks study by a committee of lanscape architects to find if portions of the route could be put in the state scenic highways system, and further information on what would happen if Highway 17 were never built.

After the resolution was adopted, Leydecker was asked to present it at tomorrow's hearing, which starts at 10 a.m. in the Rafael Theater, San Rafael.

"I don't even want to present it," he said. "But I'd be delighted to just to find out how others handle unruly crowds."

The audience for yesterday's board discussion was small.

Mrs. Winifred Fredericks told the board that the San Geronimo Valley Assn. had resolved to oppose all the routes suggested by the state.

San Anselmo City Administrator Douglas J. Flautt told the board his city has other plans for development of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard should the freeway not go through the town and endorsed the ridge route.

HOSPITAL

Hospital in San Francisco, has been appointed administrator of the hospital. Dr. Albert E. White, mayor of Mill Valley who has headed the Kaiser Clinic on Fourth Street in San Rafael, has been assigned as chief of staff.

The Fourth Street clinic will be kept open pending further decision, however, a Kaiser Foundation spokesman said.

Dr. Lowe said directors of Terra Linda Valley Hospital began negotiations for its sale when it became evident they would be unable to raise sufficient capital to finance a sizable expansion as recommended by the Marin Council of Community Services.

The hospital was established by Dr. Rafael G. Dufficy to meet a demand arising from inadequate facilities at the former county hospital in Lucas Valley. Elderly persons requiring hospitalization under county welfare were transferred there and to other hospitals in the area.

Kaiser Foundation Hospitals owns and operates 16 hospitals in California, Oregon and Hawaii, besides numerous clinics.

Viet Cong suicide force last weekend. The explosive charges were disarmed by demolition experts.

Shortly after the assassination of Tran Van Van, police seized a youth of about 20 named Vo Van En and after questioning him all day announced he had confessed he was a Viet Cong ordered to kill Van.

There was speculation, however, that the slaying might have an affect on the running feud between politicians native to South Viet Nam and the refugees from North Viet Nam who dominate the government. Ky and most of the generals on the ruling junta are from the north.

Tran Van Van was a leading member of the southern faction and ran for the Constituent Assembly on a platform that openly appealed to southern sectionalism.

BOLINAS

Chairman Byron W. Leydecker declared the problem "cannot be reconciled unless one side or the other throws in the sponge. It's a legal question."

Gene McDaniels, president of the harbor board, and Gilroy agreed.

Bolinas was on the agenda yesterday for scheduled hearings on the much-continued open space zoning, a use permit application for a launching ramp, Muskrat Corp.'s plan for 14 houses in a cluster on the lagoon's north shore, and Baulines Bahia and Wilma Leonard's applications for commercial recreation zoning. These were continued again, until Feb. 28.

OBITUARIES

Peter Odegard Dies At 65

OAKLAND (UPI) — Peter H. Odegard, a founder of the California Democratic Council and a nationally noted political science professor, died here yesterday. He was 65.

He was active in political affairs, including a World War II assignment as assistant to the Secretary of the Treasury in charge of the war savings program.

Odegard, chairman of the University of California political science department from 1948-1965, died of a heart attack in Kaiser Hospital.

He was perhaps best known in California as a founder of the CDC, but suffered political defeat in 1958, when Democrats instead chose to endorse Clair Engle for senator.

Private funeral services will be held in Richmond, Calif. Odegard is survived by his widow, Eleanore, and two sons.

RINI WILSON

SANTA MONICA (UPI) — Funeral services were pending today for soprano Rini Zarova Willson, 54, wife of "Music Man" composer Meredith Willson.

Mrs. Willson, who had been hospitalized intermittently after recent surgery, died of cancer, yesterday at St. John's Hospital.

The singer, born in Russia started her stage career at the age of 7. She came to the United States in 1927 and later appeared on the concert stage, on radio and television, and performed in nightclubs.

Douglas Urges More Marin Culture Effort

More cultural activities to attract visitors to Marin County, together with greater control by the board of supervisors over the use outside organizations make of public funds allocated for this purpose were urged on supervisors yesterday.

These were two of the suggestions made yesterday to the board by John M. Douglas, county director of economic development, who had been instructed to draw up comparisons of how other counties spend money for promotion and development and to put forward proposals for Marin.

Douglas felt that granting fixed funds at fixed periods to outside organizations for promotion had a deadening influence. "It relieves them of the necessity of planning ahead," he said.

Money should be granted, he said, in a way to stimulate effort, and the county should be more specific about how the public funds should be used.

"Marin County has tended to spread its funding to a greater degree than most counties," he said.

"There is no indication that any organization has taken an aggressive stand in getting matching money from the private sector."

If the county Chamber of Commerce is to provide liaison with the business community, more positive cooperation with the county planning department and the planning commission is essential, said Douglas.

"The cultural activities of the county should be stimulated," he went on, "and I mean stimulated, not encouraged to relax into dull dependency.

"We should devise ways and means of expanding greatly our visitor activities. If the people are interested . . . we should do everything we can to promote fine arts activities."

He had sent questionnaires to 25 counties and from the 22 he received back, he said that only San Diego County had assumed responsibility for cultural development to the same degree as Marin.

"I have found that industrial development—in the traditional sense of smokestacks, stamping plants and refinery flares—the people do not want in Marin County. But they are interested in highly sophisticated cultural activities. If this is so, we should look to these activities."

Among other suggestions, Douglas proposed parks and recreation activities be "increased drastically," and that plans for fairground development be broad enough to consider dog and horse shows as commercially profitable.

Supervisors received the suggestions favorably and called for a report from the county administrator's office which could be used as a basis for possible policy decision.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr, however, introduced a note of caution. He felt that unless the county continued its funding, certain chambers of commerce "will collapse and we will be charged with the reason for their demise."

Mill Valley Trustees Set More Architect Sessions

Mill Valley School District trustees will interview representatives tomorrow evening and Sunday afternoon of the four architectural firms named last week as candidates to design additions and alterations to existing schools.

The four firms are Bushnell, Jessup, Murphy and Van De Weghe; Davis and MacDonald and Associates; Neill Smith and Associates, and Ratcliff, Slama and Cadwalader.

Trustees met last Sunday with representatives of the four firms named as candidates to design a "middle school" on Camino Alto at Project 17: Campbell and Wong and Associates; Knorr, Elliott and Associates; Marquis and Stoller, and Wurster, Bernardi and Emmons.

Joint city-school selection of a landscape architectural firm to do the master site planning of Project 17 for the school and recreation facilities is slated by the end of the month.

Personnel On Ross Agenda

Ross Town Council, meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Town Hall, will hear recommendations for a personnel ordinance for the town by H. Thomas Heerhartz of the State Personnel Board.

The council asked for a state study for such an ordinance after an ordinance it proposed was objected to by town employees, according to Mayor Frederick S. Allen.

The council will also discuss an ordinance to limit fence heights to six feet, continuance of a variance for the antique shop in the Marin Art and Garden Center, and preliminary plans and cost estimates for widening Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at Bolinas Avenue.

Strep Infections Again Head List

Streptococcus infections led the list of communicable diseases in Marin County again last week, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

Novato had 28 of the 59 cases reported, she said. Elsewhere, 21 were reported in San Rafael, four in Mill Valley, three in Fairfax, two in Sausalito and one in San Anselmo.

Dr. Albrecht also reported 16 cases of venereal disease, with 13 cases of gonorrhea and three cases of syphilis. Four cases of tuberculosis were reported, with two in Novato and one each in Fairfax and San Anselmo.

Sonoma County Bank Is Robbed

SEBASTOPOL (AP) — Two gunmen tied up the bank manager and robbed the Bank of America's one-man Valley Ford branch Tuesday.

Manager Stanley Brooks worked his way loose and spread the alarm.

He estimated the amount stolen would not exceed $2,000.

DESERT GETS TOO WET

Tahquitz Creek, which runs through Palm Springs (Riverside County), spills over the closed highway to the desert resort, as five days of heavy rain take their toll of Southern California. This flooding happened yesterday, but forecasters warned residents that three or four more inches might fall today. (UPI Telephoto)

Citizens Sue Over Three Propositions

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Nullification of three propositions passed by California voters in November was sought in Superior Court yesterday on grounds that their appearance on the ballot violated state laws.

The propositions in question were:

Proposition 1, allowing public pension or retirement funds to invest in corporate stocks.

Proposition 6, restricting the governor's right to use the pocket veto.

The action was filed by James M. Himmel and Bill Zorzkis, directors of the California St ate Federation of Civic Improvement Clubs Inc. It challenged the present initiative and referendum system in the state and requested that Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan declare the propositions "ineffective, null and void."

The complaint argued that under the initiative, referendum and recall provisions passed in 1911, only 50,000 signatures were needed to place a measure on the ballot—but that 500,000 are required now.

As a result, the action said, only big money interests with enough to pay for professional petition circulators can get a measure on the balolt.

S.F. Students Will Continue Food Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The pressure of a student boycott in the San Francisco State College cafeteria brought about a 10 per cent reduction in food prices yesterday, but apparently it wasn't enough.

Boycott leaders said they would continue the effort, seeking a 20 per cent price cut.

Fireflies Classified As Natural Monument

SENDAI, Japan (AP) — The fireflies in the nearby Sawabe area of northern Japan have been officially classified as "natural monuments" by the Ministry of Education.

To make sure they don't die out as a result of growing urbanization, authorities are planning to plant trees around reservoirs where they breed. Officials also are stocking the reservoirs with shelfish on which firefly larvae feed.

Water District Approves Funds For Creek Study

The North Marin Water District board last night approved $12,500 for matching funds for the Walker Creek Watershed feasibility study.

The application is to go before the Marin County Conservation District Board at its meeting at 10 a.m. tomorrow in Point Reyes Station.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday approved a county contribution of $12,500.

The North Marin Water District Board also:

1. Asked Mgr. Jerome B. Gilbert to report on fire line monthly charges and to consult with the Novato Fire District on how these charges should be paid.

The board also approved Gilbert's recommendation to adopt a more flexible policy toward design standards for fire line service.

2. Deferred action on the Mahlsted Park emergency generator and the request of the Novato Police Assn. for a practice range near Stafford Lake.

HISTORICAL PAINTINGS SLASHED

Lagunitas Bond Vote Publicist Appointed

Lagunitas School District trustees last night appointed Winifred Frederick to direct publicity efforts for passage of a $250,000 bond issue and a $290,000 state loan request in the Feb. 14 election.

Both measures fell just short of the required two-thirds affirmative vote last month and a change of 20 votes, Supt. Marshall J. McCuniff said, could secure passage.

The trustees discussed three policy statements and postponed action. The statements would have:

1. Defined the newly created vice principal position, held by Harry Roche.

2. Simplified the present policy statement on corporal punishment, which permits paddling by the principal or vice principal as a last resort.

3. Established procedures for questioning of students by sheriff's deputies, since the propriety of doing this at the school without parental consent had been questioned at a previous board meeting.

The board voted to hold no meeting Dec. 20, and to hold its next meeting Jan. 3 at 8 p.m. at the school, when action may be taken on the policy statements.

Trustees authorized employment of Edna Bogardus as second grade teacher to replace Ada Meilsen, who died Nov. 18, and authorized creation of the position of library clerk at a salary to be determined.

The trustees received a letter from the county counsel's office that its application for teachers to participate in purchase of annuities through salary withholding before taxes was in order.

Man Is Dumped Into Trash Truck

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A 45-year-old man is in serious condition after being dumped into a garbage truck from a trash bin in which he had been sleeping, police reported.

Charles Thomas Adney, who gave no permanent address, was in one of five trash cans on south Los Angeles Street yesterday when he was dumped into the truck. Refuse from the other bins was piled on him.

Fifteen minutes later, the truck driver heard moaning and saw an arm protruding from his cargo. Adney was taken to General Hospital.

Delegation Is Selected For Y Meet

An all-girl delegation will represent Marin County in the annual YMCA Model Legislature in Sacramento next February.

Five youth delegates were picked last night at a "bill" hearing at the Marin Civic Center. They are Debbie Fialkowski of San Anselmo, and Shari Liggett, Corie Mallet, Cyndy Monti and Chris Sundborg, of San Rafael. Three alternate delegates are Gail Gulick, Jean Jorgenson and Denice Kirchner.

The "bill" the young delegates will present at the Model Legislature will call for establishment of long-term county jails with rehabilitation facilities for inmates who are sentenced for more than three months.

This bill, presented by Shari Liggett and Chris Sundborg, was one of four submitted last night. The girls argued that existing jails have no facilities for rehabilitation, job training or even physical exercise.

Dale Greenlee, who is in charge of the Marin YMCA, arranged the program. Chairman was Darryl Meyers, who was youth governor in the 1963 Model Legislature.

Judges were John F. Barrows, assistant county administrator; Mrs. Clarice Kraemer, League of Women Voters; Erwin C. Farley, executive director of the Richmond Development Agency; Wat Takeshita, Independent-Journal and Meyers.

Women Workers Gain In State

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Ernest B. Webb, state Director of Industrial Relations, reports women workers accounted for 45 per cent of the new jobs added to California's economy in the year ended last October.

Webb said yesterday female employees in non-farm activities increased 5.8 per cent during the period, compared with a 3.8 per cent increase for men.

He said the 2.2 million females earning salaries in October was a record for California.

cows in Marin?

Of course. Oh you won't find us girls at the poshier social functions, or lounging around the lagoon in Tiburon. But you will find us meadow-tating on your rolling green slopes of Marin (no, not the golf course, silly). We've been with you for 3½ years now, and we're mighty proud of that—as we pride ourselves in giving the richest and finest milk the healthiest families always choose. It's the same quality milk our great-grandmother cows were giving back in 1910 when we decided the dairy business was made for us. Only a dumb ox would pull a wagon, Grandpaw used to say. So what about "FARMS IN BERKELEY?!" Aw, we just do that to get a little attention on the radio.

FLYING SAUCER SCARE

Young Inventor Says It's All Just Hot Air

BELMONT (UPI) — Mysterious flying saucers which nearly made believers of a California highway patrolman and a veteran airport tower observer were explained yesterday by their creator—a 16-year-old high school student.

One of the strange devices was sighted over San Carlos shortly before midnight Saturday by off-duty Patrolman Vern Morse and his wife.

Morse said the glowing object resembled a flying platform with struts. He said there appeared to be someone wearing a crash helmet inside—although the object was only "about the size of a hot water heater."

The patrolman said the craft was completely silent, but moved away from him at about 30 miles an hour.

At about the same time, Donald Bennett, supervisor of the control tower at San Francisco International Airport, called authorities from his San Mateo home to report three red-orange glows in the sky at an estimated altitude of 20,000 feet, moving at about 250 m.p.h.

"I could not make out any shape," he reported, "but they definitely were not aircraft."

His observation was confirmed yesterday by Carlmont high school junior Jon Barnard, but the estimates of altitude and speed were a little off.

The youth said he launched about 20 of the strange objects Friday night and about 30 Saturday night. He explained how they were constructed.

PLASTIC, STRAWS

"You take one plastic bag, used by cleaning firms to protect clothes," he said. "Then you plug the coat-hanger end at the top. Get a bunch of plastic straws from a soda fountain. You use them as struts to hold the bag open."

A circular structure of the straws, inserted end-to-end, provides a platform for nine birthday candles, four in the center and one at each spoke of the struts.

"Now," Jon explained, "You light the candles, holding the top of the bag until hot air fills it. Then you let it go, and away flies your hot air balloon, giving off a gentle glow from the candles."

NO FIRE WORRY

The youth said most of his flying objects came down in his neighborhood when the candles went out, but a few carried well on strong winds that accompanied a weekend storm.

Jon said he wasn't concerned about fire because the plastic bags will not burn and, in any way, it was pretty wet those nights."

However, his career in the unidentified flying object field was cut short by Jon's father, J. L. Barnard, who said the balloons were a project "which had unforeseen effects."

"There won't be any more," the father added.

Students Rap Interracial Marriage Ban

College of Marin students in a panel discussion yesterday on interracial marriage generally were for it, but an outspoken advocate of "racial integrity" provided some drama for the discussion.

The white student, who said he felt like a "minority of one" at the discussion and who declined to give his name, remained imperturbable in the face of laughter, shouting and jeers that greeted some of his remarks. Toward the end of the confrontation, several students apologized for their impolite behavior and thanked him for his courage and honesty.

MORALLY RIGHT

The students generally agreed that a marriage "across the lines" is morally right, that they would neither condone nor condemn such a marriage, that laws in 19 states prohibiting interracial marriage should be abolished, but that life could be rough for the partners in such a marriage and for their children.

About half of the 50 students at the discussion were non-white.

The white student started the debate by saying he feels that mixed marriages are morally wrong.

PREJUDICE BASIS

Another student asked what moral criteria he was using.

"I could cite the Bible," the student said, "but really it is just the way I've been raised. My family, my church and my society have taught me that mixed marriages are wrong."

He said he believes the fear of mixed marriage is the basis for all race prejudice.

Trustee Publicity Policy Proposed

Mill Valley School District's policy development committee last night recommended that the names of candidates for vacancies on the board be made public.

The board was sharply criticized last spring for its policy of keeping candidates' names secret when it considered persons to replace former trustee John Donhoff. Joseph E. Bodovitz was named to fill Donhoff's term, which expires in April, 1967.

The committee also recommended that the district adopt a requirement that teachers retire at the age of 65. Present policy allows teachers to continue teaching if they so request.

Supervisors Reject Nursery School Plea

Marin County supervisors yesterday turned down the application of Johnnie Bunch for a permit to operate a nursery school and child care center at 231 Point San Pedro Road near San Rafael's eastern boundary.

Seven parents of children enrolled in the school and Bunch's attorney, Thomas E. Schaal, spoke strongly in favor of the application, but the room was filled with Golf Tract residents there to oppose the school, which they said was a commercial use in a first class residential district.

Supervisors voted 4-1 to uphold planning commission denial of the permit, and gave Bunch 30 days to close the school.

Chairman Byron W. Leydecker, strongly opposed to the application, dissented because of the 30-day period of grace. He argued that Bunch established the school without getting a use permit, the operation is illegal and Bunch has known this.

Bunch told the board he would look for a new location, but had little hope of finding one as good as the present site.

The Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

1. Awarded a $34,038 contract to Watkins and Sibbald of San Anselmo for second phase development of Paradise Beach park near Tiburon, and a $9,856 contract to Myers Construction Co. of San Rafael for construction of a restroom there. Each firm was lowest of five bidders.

2. Hired Ethel N. Jordan at $380 a month as deputy clerk in municipal courts and Mary Ann Gallardo at $380 a month as intermediate stenographer clerk in the farm advisor's office.

3. Adopted a resolution urging the state legislature to adopt the "Cal-Flex" proposal for giving flexibility in administering welfare programs. The changes, aimed at reducing paper work and giving social workers more time to assist those in need, was recommended by the County Supervisors Assn. of California. It also has the backing of the Marin County Grand Jury.

4. Agreed to provide up to $14,500 as the county's share in installation of traffic lights at the intersection of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Redwood Highway frontage road, a project to be financed jointly with the state division of highways.

5. Approved rezoning of Gallinas Island east of the Civic Center, from agricultural and single-family residential to resort and commercial recreation. The land is owned by Hector Rubini and Guido Farina. County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker told the board that a study of land use in the surrounding area is in progress.

6. Agreed not to request the State Department of Agriculture to hold public hearings prior to imposing a quarantine and eradication zone in Marin to control hawthorn fruit fly. Quarantine area will include Kentfield, Greenbrae, Corte Madera, and Mill Valley.

7. Learned from James E. McKenna, coordinator of the neighborhood youth corps in Marin, that 39 are enrolled in after-school jobs while 14, no longer in school, are holding down 32-hour-a-week jobs.

8. Continued until next Tuesday discussion of salary setting and evaluation for 13 department heads. Supervisors decided Monday not to go ahead with closed sessions on evaluation because some felt it would violate provisions of the Ralph M. Brown Act which limits closed meetings of public bodies to hiring, firing or hearing charges against employees.

9. Also postponed until next Tuesday discussion of alternate means of administering the proposed community mental health center.

10. Agreed to put up $3,278 in funds to be matched by the Marin Municipal Water District for replacement of mains on Margarita Drive between Highlands Avenue and Morgan Lane in Country Club Estates, east of San Rafael. The size of the main would be increased from four to six-inch diameter to improve fire fighting supply.

11. Learned that Book Publishing Co. of Seattle has raised the price of supplements to the county code it printed for Marin two years ago. Supplements ordered last year will cost $3,710 rather than the expected $3,300.

12. Granted half-day leave for county employees to be taken either on Friday before the Christmas weekend or Friday before the New Year's weekend.

13. Adopted a resolution to the State Water Commission and Water Corps of Engineers Board urging that any regional outfall proposals such as the San Luis Drain be considered in conjunction with Marin's own study on sewer disposal. The resolution is to be presented at a hearing at the Civic Center next Monday at 8 p.m. held jointly by the state bodies and the Army Corps of Engineers.

14. Amended emergency ambulance dispatch zones to put Novato, Olema Valley, Point Reyes Station, Inverness and Marshall areas within the call area of the recently established ambulance at Point Reyes Station.

15. Appointed Charles Davies of Novato to the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council, and appointed Manuel Peters to the Bolinas Public Utility District board to replace James Dougan, who resigned.

16. Adjourned at 5:40 p.m. in memory of Municipal Court Judge Leonard A. Thomas.

Black Muslims Arrested In Prayer Center

NEW YORK (AP) — Detectives hiding in a Moslem mosque have seized five Black Muslims, including their scimitar-waving leader, in what authorities said was an attempt to take over the prayer center from its Egyptian-born director.

The five were identified as followers of Elijah Muhammad, head of the virulently anti-white Black Muslim organization.

Police said one of the Muslims told Dr. Muhammad Rauf, director of the center used by Moslem diplomatic personnel: "We are going to take over this mosque. Our mosque was burned down. The people who regularly attend this mosque will from now on be at the black man's feet."

The five-story building on Riverside Drive in Manhattan is one of two Islamic mosques in the United States. Worshippers at the center include several ambassadors to the United Nations.

Council Flatly Refuses To Fire Planning Firm

The Sausalito City Council last night flatly refused to fire the city's planning consultants, William Spangle and Associates of Menlo Park.

The council gave the firm a unanimous vote of confidence and criticized the city planning commission's recommendation that the fidm be replaced.

Mayor Mel Wax said he was astounded at the commission's recommendation that another firm be hired as consultants for the second phase of the city "701" program.

"I think it was destructive and not in the best interests of the city," he said.

Wax said the city's application for federal funds for the second phase of the project might be jeopardized by a change in consultants.

William Spangle and Associates has a record as an outstanding planning firm in the United States, he said.

Mrs. Eleanor O'Hara Chapin said, "It would be disastrous to change now." Councilman Earl F. Dunphy said, "I don't believe in changing horses in midstream."

The program is to update the 1959 general plan, in the first phase, and to provide a central waterfront development plan in the second phase.

Wax noted that the city's original agreement was to have the firm do everything in one project, but this was divided into the two phases because of funding.

Councilman Alexander R. Imlay said the commission's recommendation "was ill-advised and comes at the wrong time."

Councilman Jan Paul Dyk said he was "quite angry" when he read the commission's statements regarding Spangle and Associates and was "still displeased."

The commission's report included statements that the firm was not forceful enough in presenting recommendations, that progress had been slow, that the zoning ordinance prepared by the firm contained "many defects," and that other planners "could do a more imaginative job for the city."

Poles Propose Aid To North Vietnamese

WARSAW (UPI)—The Gdansk shipyards have put forward a plan for bringing some North Vietnamese orphans to Poland.

Radio Warsaw said trade unions are collecting a "fund of solidarity with fighting Viet Nam," while some other factories are offering a portion of the goods they produce. An ambulance was offered by a car factory.

SEATO Military Talks Opened

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—The military advisers of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization began a two-day conference today with the Viet Nam war their main topic.

It was a regular semiannual meeting to review plans for the defense of the area.

Six of the SEATO members—the United States, Australia, Britain, New Zealand, Thailand and the Philippines—were represented by top military men. France and Pakistan were represented only by low-ranking officers.

Seven Soldiers Killed

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Seven Turkish gendarmerie soldiers were killed and 57 others injured — 21 seriously — when a military truck they were riding plunged into a ravine, according to reports which reached here yesterday.

Sausalito Hesitates Over Supergovernment Proposal

Sausalito city councilmen indicated last night they prefer a delay in pushing the plan to have the Assn. of Bay Area Governments become a limited regional governmental agency.

The association will have a general assembly meeting Dec. 16 to discuss the proposal.

Councilman Eleanor O'Hara Chapin said, "I believe in ABAG but I want time to think before going too fast. The ABAG proposal is not fully understood."

Mayor Mel Wax agreed, saying, "More study is needed."

Mrs. Chapin will be the city's representative to the association's general assembly.

Gasoline Prices Drop In L.A.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gasoline prices have dropped five to eight cents a gallon at many service stations in the Los Angeles area since several oil companies announced they were ending promotional contests.

In parts of the San Gabriel Valley prices sagged as low as 26.9 cents a gallon. In recent weeks regular grade gasoline has sold for as much as 34.9 cents.

A smaller drop in price was reported in other parts of Orange and Los Angeles counties.

Gets New Name

HONOLULU (UPI) —The Western Plumbing Officials Assn. has acquired a new name. At its fall meeting in Honolulu the membership voted to change the name of the group to the International Association of Plumbing and Mechanical Officials (IAPMO).

Developers Of Subdivision Submit Tree Restoring Plan

Faced with the threat of a stop-work order by the city, developers of Marina Vista subdivision submitted a plan to the Sausalito City Council last night to restore trees that were illegally bulldozed.

The plan submitted by Transamerican Engineers of San Francisco, engineers for the developer, Eureka Federal Savings and Loan Assn., was referred by the council to its community appearances advisory board. It includes planting 15 oak trees and ornamental shrubs to replace the 18 trees that were felled.

The council also had objected to a one-level, undivided road where a divided, two-level road was in the plan. Under its new plan, the developer will create an island, six feet wide and about 240 feet long, in the center of the roadway.

Last month, the council threatened to stop work on the 94-lot subdivision in the Lincoln Drive area, above the former distillery on Bridgeway, if the developer failed to replace the trees.

The council also received a recommendation from Sausalito Artists and Merchants that there be lighting at the Vina Del Mar Plaza, along with an offer of $1,000 toward the proposed lighting project.

There are no lights in the park and the small park "so pretty in daylight is an absolute nothing at night," directors of Sausalito Artists and Merchants reported.

Councilmen said they appreciated the offer, but felt that decision on lighting should await completion of the central waterfront plan. This would be after the deadline set by SAM on its offer.

The Sausalito City Council Also:

1. Directed City Mgr. George M. Patterson to take steps toward obtaining better street lighting along the lower sector of San Carlos Avenue, off Bridgeway, after a petition from 10 residents of the avenue asking for better lighting.

2. Agreed to pay Fire Chief Charles E. Matsen $1,100 a month for the period from July to November when he served as acting city manager, and praised him for "an outstanding job." Masten's salary as fire chief is $950 a month.

3. Continued until Jan. 3 an application by D. Mordant for a variance from off-street parking requirements for conversion of the Gate Theater on Bridgeway to shops and a restaurant, pending determination whether the city will accept in-lieu payments as an alternate to off-street parking.

4. Voted 4-1 to authorize City Atty. Leland H. Jordan to draw up a contract with Lawrence Halprin and Associates, landscape architects, to work on the first phase of the Bridgeway wall project, at a cost not to exceed $2,000. Earl F. Dunphy dissented.

5. Referred to Jordan and Patterson a report from the planning commission that the Northwestern Pacific Railroad property, bounded by Litho Street, Bee Street, Caledonia Street and Bridgeway, is unslightly. Station Antiques, on the property, did not obtain a use permit, and Sausalito Fuel and Ice Co. is using the streets for vehicle storage, the commission said.

6. Received a report that 22 men would take an examination for police officer today, and that vacancies for police lieutenant and police sergeant will be filled by promotional examinations, possibly by the end of this week.

7. Introduced an ordinance amendment which require posting a $300 bond and getting approval from the private use of fire hydrants.

8. Designated Patterson as director of civil defense and disaster and Masten as assistant director.

9. Banned parking opposite the garage at 79 Harrison Avenue, on all of Miller Lane, and at the corner of Lincoln and Buchanan drives.

9. Approved Christmas posters contributed by Sausalito Artists and Merchants Assn. for display on light poles. The poster, by Steve Hall, has a brotherhood theme, depicting symbols of the Buddhist, Christian and Jewish religions.

10. Adjourned in memory of two longtime Sausalito residents, Mrs. Mary B. Farthing and Mrs. Lenore V. Carniglia.

Zephyr To Run A Month Longer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Western Pacific Railroad's California Zephyr will run at least until Feb. 14 at the request of the Interstate Commerce Commission, a railroad spokesman said yesterday.

It means the passenger train will run a month longer than the railroad had planned, while the ICC makes a final decision on whether to grant W.P.'s petition to drop the train.

The railroad asked to drop the 17-year-old Zephyr, saying it lost money.

Chrysler Plans Employee Slashes

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. says it will lay off several hundred employees early next year, making it the second of the nation's Big Three auto makers to cut employment because of waning sales.

The first step of General Motors' two-stage production cut totaling 8.3 per cent took effect this week with several thousand GM employees laid off around the country.

Ford Motor Co. and American Motors said they had no immediate plans for layoffs, but added they were considering ways of cutting costs.

$200 Radio Stolen

Elwood Lee Frink, 170 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, reported to police yesterday that a $200 AM-FM radio had been stolen from his locked car Monday night while it was parked in front of his home.

City-County Zone Law Study Gets Split Nod

Sausalito City Council voted 3-2 last night to have the city participate in a joint cities-county zoning study.

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker said the only obligation to the city would be to provide the services of a staff member three hours a month during the study.

Councilman Jan Paul Dyk said he could see no advantage to Sausalito in participating.

Felix M. Warburg, former chairman of the Marin County Planning Commission who had appeared before the council on another matter, replied, "You can do something about the rest of the county and possibly get everyone up to your standards." His comment was greeted with applause from the audience.

"I'm sure if they studied our ordinance, they'd adopt it," quipped Mayor Mel Wax.

Zucker contended the city wouldn't have to adopt any part of the new zoning ordinance that would be prepared.

Councilmen Alexander R. Imlay, Eleanor M. Chapin and Mayor Wax voted for participation in the program. Councilmen Earl F. Dunphy and Dyk were opposed.

Drunken Driving Fine

Gloria Emma Schwindt, 52, of 848 Eucalyptus Avenue, Novato, was fined $230 and placed on a year's probation in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for drunken driving. Novato police arrested her Nov. 14 on Novato Boulevard.

Span Directors Study Speed-Up

Several methods of speeding up traffic over the Golden Gate Bridge were submitted yesterday to a bridge committee, but the directors took no action because of uncertainty about construction of a second deck.

Among proposals submitted at the joint meeting of the Building and Operating Committee and Highways, Roads and Traffic Committee were:

One-way toll system, movable center barrier, electronic identification tag attached under autos in lieu of commute books, and mechanical pop-up devices.

All proposals were tabled. The directors asked Manager James Adam to bring in a recommendation on whether further investigation should be made on pop-up tubes.

Homemakers can now choose from about 50 different processed potato products.

Arraignment Held On Taking Of Car

Robert Ralph Green, 36, of 25 Bigelow Avenue, Mill Valley, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony charge of fraudulently taking a car from San Rafael Dodge, 1075 Francisco Boulevard, last May 28.

Judge Peter Allen Smith scheduled plea entry for 1:30 p.m. Tuesday and released him on his own recognizance. Green was arrested by San Rafael police Dec. 2.

Vandalism Reported

Mrs. Marjorie Koehler, 69 East View Avenue, Tiburon, reported to the Tiburon sheriff's sub-station yesterday that during the weekend a small tree was pulled up and lumber overturned on her property, and the license plate and antenna on her automobile were bent.

Police Officers On Radio Panel

Four police officers will discuss the year's law enforcement in Marin County on radio station KTIM's "Marin Sounding Board" program at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Speaking will be Undersheriff Sidney Stinson, juvenile officer Harvey Teague of the sheriff's department, Deputy Police Chief Joseph Brusatori and narcotics inspector Richard Douglas of the San Rafael Police Department.

The broadcast will include a time when listeners can telephone questions to the station. The program will be repeated from a tape recording at 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

AWAY WITH FEET IN AIR

Copenhagen police haul away a demonstrator after a meeting held by a South Viet Nam delegation was broken up yesterday by a bombardment of rotten eggs and stink bombs. The meeting had been held at the invitation of Democratic Alliance, a Danish organization. (UPI Telephoto)

Dime Store Tycoon's Grandson Found Dead

NEW YORK (AP)—James (Jimmy) Donahue, one of the heirs to the Woolworth millions, was found dead yesterday in his mother's swank apartment on Fifth Avenue. He was 51.

Authorities listed the death as apparently from natural causes pending completion of a report by the medical examiner.

Donahue was the grandson of the late dime-store magnate Frank W. Woolworth, who died in 1919 at the age of 77. Donahue reportedly inherited $15 million from his grandfather's estate when he was 35 years old.

Police said Donahue was found by his mother, Mrs. James P. Donahue, lying in bed. A doctor from the Lennox Hill Hospital pronounced him dead. Donahue's father died in 1931.

Donahue was a first cousin of another Woolworth heir, Barbara Hutton.

He once had ambitions to be an actor, but his mother was said to have dissuaded him. He appeared as a chorus boy in a 1933 Broadway show that closed after 10 days.

In 1945 Donahue served briefly in the Army as a private. Prior to World War II, he dated several showgirls. He never married, however.

Donahue was expelled from Italy in 1935 for allegedly shouting "Viva Ethiopia!" from his hotel window.

He maintained a mansion on a 100-acre estate off Cedar Swamp Road in Old Brookville, Long Island.

Thief Steals Liquor

A thief who drinks, but is no glutton, broke into a Pacific Fruit Express freight car on the railroad spur at the foot of A Street, San Rafael, last night, and stole three quart bottles from one of several cases of liquor therein, san Rafael police reported.

Dock Workers To Be Hired

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Some 700 new longshoremen will be hired to keep pace with the flood of Viet Nam-bound shipments on San Francisco's docks, waterfront union and employer officials reported yesterday.

The decision by the Pacific Maritime Assn. and the independent International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union opens regular dock jobs for only the fourth time since 1960.

At that time the two organizations agreed on a closed contract which would gradually reduce the number of longshoremen through attrition. They were to be replaced by automation.

Fairfax Asks Six Months' Delay On 17

Fairfax City Council, meeting in special session, agreed last night to recommend a six-month delay in plans to extend Highway 17 from Highway to Point Reyes National Seashore.

The council also urged creation of a study group comprising residents in the affected area to determine the need for such a road.

The recommendations were noted in a letter which the council intends to present tomorrow at a State Division of Highways public hearing on the freeway at the Rafael Theater in San Rafael.

Councilman Robert Souza made the recommendations, which were unanimously endorsed by his colleagues.

"I'm not opposed to a freeway," he said. "It may be the answer, and it may not be. But I feel the study group will provide a more acceptable solution to the problem."

The highways division has proposed four routes for the highway, one running through San Rafael, San Anselmo and Fairfax. Fairfax Council is on record against that one.

Mayor Peter Arrigoni Jr. allowed the need for a quicker route to Point Reyes last night, but felt a freeway "should be put through an area that does not disturb anyone."

Auto Crash Fatal

OAKLAND (AP)—Ray Little, 46, of Stockton died today at Highland Hospital of injuries suffered Saturday in a collision of cars six miles west of Livermore.

Tumor Is Benign

Mill Valley City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer reported today that when he had surgery Nov. 29 for a hernia, doctors discovered he had a benign tumor, not a hernia. The limpona, or tumor, was on his spermatic cord. Released Friday from the hospital, he expects to recuperate at home for the rest of the month.

Transmission Stolen

Thieves stole a $100, three-speed transmission from a pick-up truck at the DeMello Roofing Co. storage yard at 53 Jordan Street, San Rafael, sometime during the weekend, police reported.

Minneapolis has a suburb named Golden Valley.

Heller Plan On Taxation Draws Balk

Marin County supervisors yesterday balked at suggesting that property taxation be abandoned entirely to be replaced by federal subventions supported by income tax.

The so-called Heller Plan of tax reform was on a list of legislation proposals given supervisors by county administrator Alan Bruce.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer said he would like to talk about the tax suggestion some more.

Because of the lack of time yesterday, discussion of all proposals, including one that would ask legislation to consolidate the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District and the Marin Transit District, was put off until next Tuesday.

Pair Charged With Stealing Of Gas

A San Anselmo man and a 17-year-old boy were charged yesterday with stealing gas from the car of Douglas K. Huneke, 39 Cedar Street, San Anselmo, according to San Anselmo police.

Gary M. Wanstall, 25, of 353 The Alameda, was released without bail from Marin County Jail. The teen-ager was cited.

GOP Women Select New Officer Slate

Mrs. Charles Williams of 51 Knight Drive, San Rafael, took over yesterday as new president of the Marin Federated Republican Women, succeeding Barbara Hennessy.

The annual election and installation of officers were held at the home of Mrs. Alan Ewen in Belvedere.

Other new officers installed are Mrs. James Graves of Ross, first vice president; Mrs. Paul McCart of San Rafael, second vice president; Mrs. Carl Hepp of Mill Valley, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Howard Lee of San Rafael, recording secretary; and Mrs. L. B. Everett of Tiburon, treasurer.

Mrs. Karl Stolting of Santa Rosa, vice president of region 8, was the installing officer.

Pistol Loader Is Apprehended

"I just saw a funny thing on Lootens Place," a woman told San Rafael Patrolman Donald M. Rose yesterday. "I saw a drunk walking along loading a pistol."

Rose, who did not think it was funny, began a search of the downtown area. He found Lewis Lynn Holt, 33, also known as Richard F. Dominiak, of Lawndale, Los Angeles County, at Fourth Street and Lincoln Avenue.

Holt, booked at county jail for parole violation and possession of a weapon by a felon, had on his person a .38-caliber, snub-nose revolver and a paper sack with 49 rounds of ammunition. The weapon was loaded, Rose said.

A single Menhaden fish has been known to deposit more than 130,000 eggs.

EXTEND A cheery welcome with this holiday buffet around Spiced Eggnog Punch and your favorite Christmas cookies. Contrast assorted Butter Crisps, Coffee Bon-Bons and English Toffee Bars with zesty Holly Cheese Balls and Savory Toast Cubes with a deviled ham filling.

Plan For A Merry Christmas By Baking A Batch Of Cookies

Start planning a merry Christmas by baking your first batch of cookies this week. Mixing and decorating your family's favorite cookies will really put you in the holiday mood. Plain, frosted, filled, or fancied up with colored sugar and candied fruit, butter cookies have a gay holiday look. They are easy to make and infinitely varied; and butter helps them stay fresh for weeks, properly stored in an air-tight container.

It's fun to pass a colorful platter of Christmas cookies, and even more rewarding to wrap them for Christmas giving. Any friend or neighbor will be complimented by this thoughtful gift

SPICY CHRISTMAS CUT-OUTS

Yield: 8-9 dozen
Buttered baking sheets
Preheated 350 degrees oven

1 cup (2 sticks) butter
⅔ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
⅔ cup light corn syrup
⅓ cup honey
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
4½ cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¾ teaspoon ground ginger
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
colored sugar (optional)

In a mixing bowl cream butter; gradually add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Gradually add corn syrup, then honey. Blend in lemon rind. Sift together flour, baking soda, salt, cinnamon, ginger and cloves; gradually add to creamed mixture. Chill for ease in handling. On well-floured surface roll dough to ⅛-inch thickness. With floured cooky cutters, cut into desired shapes. With wide spatula transfer to baking sheet. Sprinkle with colored sugar, if desired. Bake 8-10 minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool.

Note: Colored sugar may be omitted and cookies decorated with frosting after baking.

GUMDROP JEWELS

Yield: 5-6 dozen
Buttered baking sheets
Preheated 350 degrees oven

1 cup (2 sticks) butter
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1¾ cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats, uncooked
½ cup chopped nuts

In a mixing bowl cream butter; gradually add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Beat in egg and vanilla. Sift together flour, baking soda, baking powder and salt; gradually add to creamed mixture. Stir in rolled oats, gumdrops and nuts. Drop by rounded teaspoons onto baking sheets. Bake 12-14 minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool.

REFRIGERATOR SANDWICH COOKIES

Yield: approx. 40 sandwich cookies
Baking sheets
Preheated 350 degrees oven

¾ cup (1½ sticks) butter
¼ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
¼ cup sugar
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
Vanilla Frosting
Pecan halves

In a mixing bowl cream butter; gradually add sugars and beat until light and fluffy. Beat in egg and vanilla. Gradually add flour. Chill for ease in handling. Form into 2 rolls, each 7-inches long and 1½-inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper and chill several hours. Cut into ⅛-inch slices and place on baking sheets. Bake 8-10 minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool. Put two cookies together with Vanilla Frosting; place dollop of frosting on top of sandwich and top with pecan half.

VANILLA FROSTING:

¼ cup (½ stick) butter
1¾ cups confectioners sugar
1 egg white
½ teaspoon vanilla
Food coloring

In a small mixing bowl cream butter. Add sugar alternately with egg white, beating until light and fluffy. Blend in vanilla and food coloring.

SPICED EGGNOG PUNCH

Yield: approx. 3¾ quarts

1 bottle (1 pt. 9.6 oz.) white grape juice
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon allspice
3 quarts dairy eggnog

Into a small saucepan measure 1 cup grape juice (chill remaining juice); add cinnamon and allspice. Bring to a boil, mixing well. Chill. Place eggnog in large container; gradually add spiced grape juice, then remaining chilled grape juice. Beat with rotary beater until frothy. Pour into punch bowl.

Note: Keep eggnog punch well chilled without diluting the flavor with frozen eggnog cubes.

COFFEE BON-BONS

Yield: 4 dozen
Baking sheets
Preheated 350 degrees oven

1 cup (2 sticks) butter
¾ cup confectioners sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
1¾ cups sifted regular all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon instant coffee powder
Confectioner sugar
OR Chocolate Confectioners Frosting

In a mixing bowl cream butter; gradually add sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Blend in vanilla. Sift together flour and coffee powder; gradually add to creamed mixture. Chill several hours for ease in handling. Shape into balls 1-inch in diameter; place on baking sheets. Bake 15-20 minutes. If desired, dip balls while warm in confectioners sugar; place on wire rack to cool. OR, cool cookies completely on wire rack before frosting with Chocolate Confectioners Frosting.

CHOCOLATE CONFECTIONERS FROSTING

1¾ cups confectioners sugar
1½ tablespoons cocoa
2 tablespoons butter, softened
2 tablespoons milk
⅓ cup chopped nuts.

In a small bowl stir together sugar, cocoa, butter and milk until smooth. Frost cookies and sprinkle with a few nuts.

RED NOSE

Try Rudolph Reindeer Cookies

Some of the most adorable Christmas cookies we have ever seen came to us from a friend. In Rudolph the Reindeer shape with a bright red cherry for the nose! Of course we asked for the recipe to pass along to you.

So here it is—a molasses cookie to delight young and old. Be sure to use the light molasses called for in this recipe, because it helps to give these little cookie Rudolphs just the right reindeer hue.

RUDOLPH REINDEER COOKIES

3 cups sifted regular flour
1 tspn baking soda
½ tspn salt
½ tspn each ginger, cinnamon and cloves
2 tbspns butter or margarine, soft
½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
½ cup light molasses
⅓ cup milk

On wax paper sift together the flour, baking soda, salt and spices. Cream butter, brown sugar and molasses. Stir in flour mixture alternately with milk, blending after each addition. Cover and chill for several hours. On floured pastry cloth, with floured stockinet-covered rolling pin, roll out dough ¼-inch thick. Use a reindeer-shape cookie cutter (3⅝ inches from nose to tail) to cut out cookies. Insert a small piece of toothpick in top of each cookie—to form holes through which string can be tied for hanging cookies on tree. Place cookies a few inches apart on lightly greased cookie sheets. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 10 to 12 minutes. Cool one minute. Remove from cookie sheets to wire racks to cool. Outline edges with Ornamental Frosting. Tuck a well-drained maraschino cherry over the nose of each reindeer cookie before serving; if this is done in advance cherry will soften cookie nose! Makes 3 dozen reindeer cookies. If you wish to use a 3-inch star-shape cookie cutter, yield will be 5 dozen; a 2¼-inch round cookie cutter will yield 4 dozen.

ORNAMENTAL FROSTING

Into small bowl of electric mixer sift 1¼ cup confectioners sugar and ⅛ teaspoon cream of tartar. Add one egg white and ¼ teaspoon vanilla. Beat until very stiff; knife should come out clean when cut through frosting. Makes about ⅔ cup. Use round decorating tip (about ⅛ inch in diameter) to outline cookies.

One-half of recipe will decorate edges of 36 reindeer cookies or 60 stars; one-quarter of recipe will decorate 48 rounds. For size of cookie cutters, see end of recipe for Rudolph Reindeer Cookies.

Festivities Begin With Holiday Cheese Delight

2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese
⅛ teaspoon onion salt
½ cup chopped sliced smoked beef

In a small mixing bowl beat together Cheddar cheese, cream cheese and onion salt until smooth. Shape into a ball; roll in beef. Wrap in protective wrapping; chill.

Pecan Cream Cheese Pie In A Less Sweet Version

It's luscious, ingenious and utterly American — this Pecan Cream Cheese Pie.

Don't ask us who invented it. We're not sure. But probably it was the good cook in Arkansas who won a prize in a national baking contest for combining pecan pie filling with cream cheese and who named the result Mystery Pie.

We hasten to say that the following version of this pie is not the one that won the prize. Ours is a slightly different recipe worked out by another good cook — this time in New York.

When we tried the New York version at our house there was not a single taster, out of half a dozen, who didn't acclaim the dessert. And both kinds of tasters were satisfied: those who insist that regular pecan pie is too, too rich adored this less sweet version; those who dote on pecan pie just because it is so devastatingly sweet still gobbled up all they could of this cream cheese variety!

PECAN CREAM CHEESE PIE

2 packages (each 3 ounces) cream cheese
¼ cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon salt
3 eggs
¾ cup light or dark corn syrup
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 unbaked 9-inch flaky pastry shell
1¼ cups chopped pecans

In a small bowl, beat together the cream cheese, ¼ cup sugar 1 egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla and the salt until thick, creamy and smooth; reserve.

In another small bowl, beat 3 eggs just until yokes and whites are combined. Add the corn syrup, 2 tablespoons sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla; beat gently only until blended.

Spread reserved cream-cheese mixture in the bottom of the unbaked pastry shell. Sprinkle with pecans. Gently pour the syrup mixture over the pecans.

Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven until the center is firm to the touch — about 35 to 40 minutes.

Note: We baked this pie on one of the low racks of our oven so that the pastry would brown.

DECORATIONS GALORE

Exceptionally festive table decorations were featured at yesterday afternoon's Christmas luncheon of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Mill Valley Methodist Church. They were made by the four circles within the society. Among the most unusual were angels made of champagne and coke bottles. Woman's Society president Mrs. Gale Mosier and others at the table admire them. Standing are, from left, the circle chairmen, Mesdames Edith Kramer, Dan Lambden, Belman Maddox and Lyman Booth. Yule Dinner, Program Set At Branson

Christmas activities at the Katharine Branson School will culminate with the Faculty-Student Christmas dinner and skits on Saturday evening at the school in Ross.

The traditional Christmas Carol Service was held on Sunday. The music was directed by Barret Mineah, and the program included a Christmas Masque.

Holiday decor at the school was created by art students and, from the parent group, Mesdames A. E. Castle, Ivan Cousins, Christian Gronbeck Jr., Harold Morgan and Donald G. Westerbeke.

Hand Bell Music At Church Holiday Tea

The Christmas Tea featuring a concert of hand bell music will be sponsored by the Women's Assn. of Redwoods Presbyterian Church, Larkspur, on Tuesday. The 1 o'clock concert in the church sanctuary will be followed by tea in the Fellowship Hall.

Yacht Auxiliary Will Hold Party

The Women's Auxiliary of the San Rafael Yacht Club are planning a Christmas party on Sunday which will open with a buffet supper at 5 p.m.

Santa Claus is scheduled to arrive with gifts at the event which will be held at the clubhouse in San Rafael.

AN ENGAGEMENT PARTY was given on Nov. 26 for Carol Elizabeth Peebles of San Rafael and Merritt Mel Smith of Concord. (Heritage photo)

Carol Peebles Engaged To Merritt Smith Of Concord

Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Peebles announced the engagement of their daughter, Carol Elizabeth, and Merritt Mel Smith of Concord at a party given in their San Rafael home on Nov. 26.

The bride-elect was graduated from San Rafael High School and College of Marin and attends University of California at Santa Barbara. Her fiance is a graduate of San Rafael Military Academy and is presently attending Diablo Valley College where he is a member of the National Honor Society.

Carol is the sister of Sharon Peebles of Hayward and is the granddaughter of Mrs. Helen Peebles of St. Helena.

The future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith V. Smith of Concord and the grandson of Mrs. Melba Stanley of Oroville and Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Smith of Alturas.

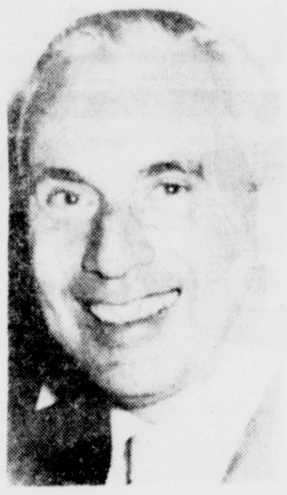
Popular Songs Composer To Be Program's Feature

"Flamingo," hit tune of 1939 and again in 1966, will be among selections played by composer Ted Grouya at the Nazareth House Christmas Birthday Party on Dec. 14 sponsored by the Nazareth House Auxiliary.

Grouya, a native of France and student from the Sorbonne in Paris, came to Hollywood at the request of MGM in 1939 as a composer. In addition to the well-known "Flamingo," Mr. Grouya has composed "In My Arms," "Since You Went Away" and "I Heard You Cried Last Night." The composer and his family now live in Greenbrae.



TED GROUYA

Nazareth House Auxiliary, a volunteer organization, was formed last March to assist the Poor Sisters of Nazareth in their care of the aging and to make the hours of the guests more pleasant.

Volunteers of all faiths are welcome to join the auxiliary and assist with crafts, entertainment, transportation, clerical or personal services.

Businesswomen To Hear Talk By Dr. Roy Fairchild

Dr. Roy W. Fairchild, professor of Christian Education at San Francisco Theological Seminary, San Anselmo, will be the speaker at the Business and Professional Women's Christmas dinner and party.

The dinner will be held at Sabella's on Dec. 13 at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Fairchild's topic will be "Giving and Receiving." He is an ordained minister in the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. and a native of San Francisco, he resides in San Anselmo with his wife and three children. As an added attraction, the Winifred Baker Chorale will present a program of Christmas music.

Mrs. Curtis Bahl is chairman of the evening, assisted by Mrs. William Raudio and Mrs. J. E. Mazzini.

COLLEGE MADRIGALS SING

It was a program of Christmas music yesterday for the San Rafael Improvement Club featuring lyric soprano Kay Collette and the Madrigal Singers from Dominican College. Madrigal members are Liz Heffernan, Sherry Silva, Jackie McDonald, Denise Cronin and Cathy Burke. (Independent-Journal photo)

Irate Husband Expresses Views On Expectant Mother's Smugness

DEAR HELEN:

In your reply to the "Spock-proof" husband, you took the woman's side, saying a gal only has a first baby once and let her enjoy being "all Spock and span."

If a male answered a question like that it would go something like this:

"Some women think having a baby is the biggest thing in the world and no other subject is worth talking about. They're smug, self-centered and glowing with pride. Yet after the baby is born the woman tosses all the responsibility on the poor husband. She ridicules him because he fathered the child, as if he was the only one involved. Later on, when the kid doesn't live up to expectations, who's to blame—the father, of course, because 'that's where he inherited all his bad points.'"

My dear, Helen, you should let me write your column. I could tell you a thing or three about dames!—EXPERIENCED HUSBAND

DEAR EX:

Do tell! I'll be waiting to hear. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband acts like a teen-ager and looks about 18, when he is really 25. He wears a dungaree jacket and loves to race cars and motorcycles and hang around with younger fellows. What's more, people our ages treat him like a teen-ager. What will it take to make him grow up?—MOTHER OR WIFE

DEAR M or W:

. . . Time.

These boyish traits evidently didn't turn you off before the wedding. So don't expect a marriage license to turn a boy into a man overnight.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I am a woman of 28. I have seven wonderful children, but here is the kick in the pants: I have never been married though I am living with their father. Everyone here has considered us man and wife for eight years and we have a very good reputation, go to church, work in P-TA and all of that.

The reason we have never said our vows is that my "husband" was married about 15 years ago, but just stayed with her a year. They never got a divorce, but she married a man in another state. That made it hard for my man, as he didn't want to expose her as a big bigamist or whatever. So we just moved to this town and let people think we were married. We love each other very much.

We want to do what's right, but it would cost too much for a lawyer to get this straightened out. Every time we almost have the money saved up, I get pregnant again. Will I ever be—THE REAL MRS. X?

DEAR MRS. X:

I'd say you are just about as married as two people can get but to protect yourselves and your family you should make it legal, even if you must borrow the money.

A common-law marriage might be binding, but when your "husband" has another wife, she could turn up at any time and cause trouble. I hope a lawyer can solve your problems quietly. —H.

DEAR HELEN:

Every time I get a real pain, my wife says it's "psychosomatic." She read all about psychosomatic illnesses in a magazine and she traces back a stomach ache to "basic insecurity," or a headache to "hostility," and if I get a backache, boy I've had it: It's because my boss picks on me.

Can't people have a good sickness any more without some "psychosomaniac" analyzing them?—BURNED

DEAR BURNED:

Tell your "psychosomaniacal" (now there's a word!) wife to analyze her own pains but let you suffer the old-fashioned way. As I say, women read too much. —H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

"MARDI GRAS in Marin" will be the theme on Saturday when the three Marin Rainbow for Girls Assemblies welcome Robin Simonet, grand worthy advisor in California, and Mrs. Florance MacDonald, supreme worthy associate advisor, at the Masonic Temple in San Rafael. Working on papier mache decorations are, from left, Susan and Nancy Kimberling, Diane Wegner, Jenny Knapp and Kathy Meleyco. (Independent-Journal photo)

Sausalito Yacht Club Plans Meet

The Sausalito Yacht Club Women's Auxiliary will hold an open board meeting on Dec. 15 at 10 a.m. at the clubhouse to decorate the Christmas tree and complete plans for the Dec. 18 children's Christmas party.

Mrs. T. C. Nizenkoff, auxiliary president, has announced new committee chairmen: Mesdames James Enzensperger, program and ways and means; Peter Mohler, membership; Peter Fromhagen and Robin Hobart, special projects; Melville Pearce, historian; Robin Hobart, decorations; H. T. Rogers, membership records; and Guy Dowden and Russell Wallace, publicity.

The auxiliary sponsors fund-raising and social events by request of the club board of directors.

'Mardi Gras In Marin' Theme For Rainbow Official Event

Marin's three Rainbow Assemblies, Tamalpais, Novato and San Rafael, who comprise District 29, Order of Rainbow for Girls are busy with preparations for Saturday when Robin Simonet, grand worthy advisor for the state of California, and Mrs. Florance MacDonald, supreme worth associate advisor, make their official visit.

"Mardi Gras in Marin" will be the theme of the festivities which begin on Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Masonic Temple in San Rafael. Following the ceremonies, the members of the Mothers' Club of the San Rafael Assembly will serve luncheon.

Decorating for the occasion are Kathy Meleyco, chairman; Nancy and Sue Kimberling, Jenny Knapp, Kathy Paini, Diane Wegner, Janice Peterson, Jane Van Dyke and Robin Campbell.

Assisting worthy advisors, Sherryl Kinchla of Novato, Nanette Hanzsche of Tamalpais and Sally Hasse of San Rafael, is Katherine Scott, grand representative to the state of Louisiana in California, and Mrs. Kenneth Jones, grand deputy of the district.

Holy Family Guild To Hold Luncheon

The Holy Family Guild of Marin will sponsor a luncheon at noon on Dec. 13 at St. Patrick's Church, Larkspur, as the guild's benefit for the sisters.

Mrs. Frank J. Buscher Jr. is chairman and Mrs. Harold Bates, co-chairman. They are also serving as reservations chairmen.

Cards will follow the luncheon.

WHAT WOMAN SERIES

'Loneliness Is More Than You Think'

By BETTY FROST

Deftly turning the role of lecturer into that of interlocutor Dr. Arthur Foster, dean of the Berkeley Baptist Divinity School, guided a discussion on the topic "Loneliness Is More Than You Think" at yesterday's session in the "What Woman Are You?" series at the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Tiburon.

The lively involvment with the discussion, and the groups which gathered to continue conversations at the end of the program indicated that the audience profited by the group therapy aspects of the seminar and enjoyed what the theology professor called "The fundamental humanizing process of the dialogue."

ASKING "WHAT RIGHT has a mere man to talk about the loneliness of women?" Dean Foster invited the women to search together for the meaning of loneliness. It did prove to be more than most had previously thought. "Loneliness has as many aspects as there are people in this room," commented Dr. Foster.

Among the individual interpretations volunteered by the women were the following:

—Loneliness is an absence of something, a deficiency.

—Loneliness has a positive side. The conformity of belonging can be immature. The capacity to be alone is a sign of maturation.

IN OUR MOBILE SOCIETY there is often a poignant longing to be part of an established community.

—Loneliness can be equated with boredom by those who lack the art of entertaining themselves.

—Loneliness plagues the young mother who has too much child demand and too little adult companionship.

—Loneliness can be confused with self-pity.

—Loneliness can not be driven away by "busyness."

—One who experiences a depth of relationship with other persons has the power to be alone.

—The loneliness of the inexplicable, such as the death of a beloved child, leads to questions about the nature of God.

THERE IS A LONELINESS of guilt for a broken relationship or a missed opportunity. This is intensified by the knowledge that we "can't go back; we can't go home again."

Even in old age those who have lived in "loving creativity" do not feel this desolation.

—Loneliness is not being able to share.

—Loneliness can act as a trigger, causing us to move out and give of ourselves.

FOR THE OLDER WOMAN loneliness is something to accept as another part of life.

At the end of an hour of open discussion, Dr. Foster resumed the platform and made a summation. He differentiated between 1. Loneliness anxiety "where an encapsulated person cannot get out of himself to relate and remains in an estrangement that is hell," and 2. Aloneness "which is a constructive force and the source of love and beauty."

"WE GET HUNG UP when we try to be what others demand. It's O.K. to be you. God accepts us and affirms us as we are," the ordained minister said. "A guy like Jesus is a constant reproof to mask-wearing phonies."

"Give us safety and risk forming new ties and new patterns of behavior. The reward will be a deeper relation with people. The way out of the pit is by commitment," he concluded.

Sailing Accomplishments Are Pride Of Yacht Group Leader

"Getting into an El Toro and sailing it alone in Belvedere Cove" is considered one of her major accomplishments by Mrs. William F. Healy Jr. of Belvedere, newly elected president of the Women's Auxiliary of the San Francisco Yacht Club. The solo sail in a cockleshell was undertaken as a part of the sailing training program which the auxiliary offers to its members. The new president says the course helped her to be a better crew on her husband's Cal-20 class sloop and increased her enjoyment of sailing.

The wife of William F. Healy Jr., a manufacturer's representative, she is a graduate of the University of Rochester at Rochester, N.Y.

MRS. HEALY has been a director and vice president of the auxiliary, and has been a member of the organization for seven years. She sees the functions of the auxiliary as offering an opportunity for sociability among the wives of yacht club members, sponsoring sailing-training programs for women, and fund-raising efforts to help enhance the clubhouse. The auxiliary has also encouraged sailing programs for juniors, and continues its support of Adams Cup sailing teams for women in the Bay Area. In August the auxiliary assumed responsibilities for housing, hospitality and transportation for teams and officials who came to Belvedere for the Women's North American Sailing Championships hosted by the San Francisco Yacht Club.

MRS. WILLIAM HEALY

THE OTHER activities of petite Helen Healy are gardening, bridge and oil painting. She was president of the Ross General Hospital Volunteer Service for three years. She is a sustaining member of the Marin Foundation, belongs to the Friends of Arequipa, is a vice president of the Belvedere-Tiburon Investment Club, and a precinct captain of the Republican party. Before moving to Marin seven years ago she spent six years as a volunteer at Stanford Hospital (now Presbyterian Medical Center), and served on the board of directors of the hospital's auxiliary.

Members of the incoming board are the Mesdames Robert G. Potter, vice president; John De Witt, secretary; Joe Madrigali, treasurer; Paul N. Duggan, Herbert Ross, and Dorothy Shemanski, directors; Benton D. Mathews (retiring president) and the wife of the Commodore of San Francisco Yacht Club to be elected for 1967, honorary directors.

A HAMILTON SERVICE

Mrs. Charles M. Walton Jr., one of the 40 Family Service volunteers at Hamilton Air Force Base, has her hands full with many of the household items a family at Hamilton can borrow from the Family Services Center to use until their household goods arrive at the base. The extra items are part of the emergency loan service operated by the volunteers who are wives of airmen and officers stationed there. Coordinator of the service is Mrs. Nicholas S. Morson. Hamilton volunteers have greeted 675 new families in the last six months, sent out 603 of their loan kits and worked a total of 3,724 hours. (Air Force photo)

Scholarship Concert Set For San Anselmo

The Marin branch of the California Music Teachers Assn. will present its second scholarship benefit concert Sunday at 3 p.m. at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in San Anselmo.

Performing will be pianist Robert Lamb and violinist Michael Gerling.

Lamb, who has a piano studio in Larkspur, studied at the College of Marin and with Arthur Eisler and Adolph Baller and attended San Francisco State College four years as a music major.

Gerling was a member of the Marin Youth Orchestra and studied with Mabel Pittenger, Frank Hauser and Rafael Druian before becoming a member of the Marin, Santa Rosa and San Francisco symphony orchestras.

Works to be performed are Handel's Sonata No. 4 in D Major; three pieces, Opus 17 by Josef Suk; Beethoven's Sonata in D Major, Opus 12, No. 1; Prokofieff's Sonata No. 1 in F Minor, Opus 80; and Debussy's "Sonate."

Twin Cities Are Trying To Patch Up Boundaries

The Corte Madera and Larkspur city councils this week are both working on eight boundary adjustments to eliminate "islands" which are within one city, but accessible only from the other.

Primary reason for the adjustments, according to Corte Madera Town Mgr. Donald L. Usher, is to provide better emergency service to the areas affected.

The changes will have only a minor effect on the tax rolls of the two cities, Usher said. Larkspur will gain about $75,000 in assessed valuation.

A seven-and-one-half acre area in Larkspur on Christmas Tree Hill, accessible only via Summit Drive in Corte Madera, will be annexed to Corte Madera if the 14 registered voters who live in it approve the change.

A smaller property next to it in Corte Madera, accessible only via Sunrise Lane in Larkspur, will go to Larkspur. No election will be necessary, as there is only one house on the property.

A "U" shaped parcel in Corte Madera, containing 18 residences, accessible only by Elm Avenue in Larkspur, will go to Larkspur if the resident voters approve the switch of allegiance.

Redwood High School lies partly in Larkspur, partly in Corte Madera and partly in the county. All will be included in Larkspur under the proposed boundary adjustment.

Half an acre at the end of the Corte Madera Canal, part of the town's drainage system, contains a tide gate which is in Larkspur, and Corte Madera has been paying about $20 a year in taxes to Larkspur for it. This area will be annexed to Corte Madera.

An undeveloped area beyond the end of Williams Avenue, near the Department of Motor Vehicles office, which is now in Larkspur, will be annexed to Corte Madera, giving Corte Madera a contiguous boundary into the Fifer Tract.

Industrial Way, an area just south of the Corte Madera Creek bridge and now split between the two cities, will go to Larkspur.

Would-Be Span Jumper Halted

After visiting his psychoanalyst at 7 p.m. yesterday, a 17-year-old San Francisco boy walked out on Golden Gate Bridge today at 1:45 a.m. "to think," he told California Highway Patrol officer Robert Borzone.

The officer, fearing the boy might attempt to jump from the bridge, turned him over to San Francisco General Hospital. From there he was sent to the San Francisco Youth Guidance Center for treatment and observation.

He told patrol officers he had been seeing a psychoanalyst for six months. The patrol reported the boy appeared despondent over trouble at home.

Pesky Kangaroos

PERTH, Australia (UPI) — Kangaroos can be a hazard on smaller Australian airports, as one pilot discovered recently when taking off from the town of Wittenoom Gorge north of here with 27 passengers. The Fokker aircraft struck a kangaroo and damaged its undercarriage. The pilot, Capt. Ross Watts, decided to fly on to the next scheduled stop at the city of Broome, 400 miles to the north. He pancaked to a perfect landing without the passengers ever knowing of the incident.

Son Finds His Father Dead

PACIFICA (AP) — Paul T. Wurm had told his son, Paul Jr., several times that he wanted to join his wife, Mrs. Elsa Elizabeth Wurm, after she hanged herself a year ago.

Today the younger Wurm became concerned when his father phoned his Santa Rosa home at 1:15 a.m. and said he was depressed.

Two Voice Students Set For Concert

Mezzo soprano Dulace Scott and lyric soprano Anna Secrist will be presented in a free public concert by their teachers Saturday at 8 p.m., at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

Mrs. Scott, who is a WAF staff sergeant at Hamilton Air Force Base, studies with Mme. Bella Resek of Mill Valley. She studied previously in Kansas City, Mo., and was winner in 1959 of the Air Force world-wide talent contest. She has also sung in musicals produced by Jane Gay Stevens in Massachusetts. This will be her first concert in Marin.

She will sing works by Caressemi, Durante, Giordano, Strauss, Bonchielli, Gluck, Saint-Saens, and Grieg, and two spirituals.

Mrs. Secrist, who lives in Novato, is a student of Dr. Giulio Silva of Novato. She sings with the opera workshops at the College of Marin and Sonoma State College. She is a member of the St. Francis Episcopal Church choir and appeared in the Marin Symphony Guild's production of the opera, "The Mother of Us All." She will sing works by Scarlatti, Bonocini, Vivaldi, Schubert, Mozart, Puccini, and Verdi.

As a duet Mrs. Scott and Mrs. Secrist will sing "Barcarole" from Offenbach's "Tales of Hoffman."

Costly Absenteeism

NEW YORK (UPI) —New York City's schools lose about $5 million in state aid annually because of pupil absence which could be prevented by "positive parental involvement," according to Arthur Clinton, director of the city school system's Bureau of Attendance. Absentees total between 11 and 12 per cent, he said.

Concert Planned By College Band

College of Marin Community Band will perform in concert at 8 p.m. Sunday at the college gymnasium in Kentfield.

The performance, which is free, will include "Psalm" by American composer Vincent Persichetti; "An Original Suite" by British composer Gordon Jacob; Anton Bruckner's "March in E Flat"; the Norwegian march "Valdres" by Johannes Hanssen, as well as marches by Sousa and Goldman.

Two major orchestral works will be heard in transcriptions for band. They are "Euryanthe" overture by Carl Maria Von Weber and "Four Miniatures" by Joaquin Turina.

Concert Cancelled

The concert of the Marin Pro Musica on Sunday at 4 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo has been cancelled because of the continuing illness of Wilbur F. Russell, the director.

A universal electric motor can be used with either AC or DC current.

Fire Destroys Historic Hotel

JOHNSVILLE (AP) — Flames destroyed yesterday the Johnsville Hotel, a landmark in this historic mining community in Plumas-Eureka State Park.

The hotel was closed for the season.

Damage was estimated at $30,000, not including antique furnishing of unknown value.

Built about 1900, the hotel originally was the Passetta House. It and the adjacent iron door restaurant were purchased in 1961 by Trigge Yonge and restored to their former Victorian decor.

Churchill, Canada, is so far north it is 1,000 miles closer to Liverpool than is Montreal.

Justice Peek, Proposition 14 Foe To Retire

Refuses Comment On Rumor Brown May Seek Bench

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Justice Paul Peek, who wrote the opinion that overturned California's ban on open housing laws, retired from the State Supreme Court today because of ill health.

The 62-year-old jurist submitted his resignation effective Dec. 15 after doctors told him a heart condition would prevent him from working any more.

Peek, a Democrat, said he had not discussed a successor with retiring Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

In response to a reporter's question, Peek said he was not stepping down just to permit the governor to name a successor.

WON'T TALK

He refused to speak for publication when he was asked if he thought Brown might be considering resigning from office himself and then being appointed to the Supreme Court by Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson. Anderson would become governor if Brown stepped down.

Peek was the author of the opinion that struck down Prop. 14, the voter initiative that nullified the state's open housing law and prevented the legislature from passing any similar statues in the future.

That opinion ired some people, who mounted a campaign to regist- "no" votes against Peek and justices who agreed with him.

MOST 'NO' VOTES

The biggest "no" vote in the November election was against Peek.

Today, he commented that "two years ago, I was the greatest vote getter in the state of California and this year I was low man on the totem pole."

Peek said he had warning signs of serious illness about a month ago and his doctor advised him to slow down to avoid a coronary attack.

"I hate to do it," Peek said of his retirement. "There's a fine group of men on the court."

He said he might help in court work on a part-time basis." I don't want to sit on the shelf and hibernate," Peek said. He added that he would remain in Sacramento.

Peek said he told Brown about his resignation yesterday.

FORMER SPEAKER

Elected to the Assembly in 1936, he became speaker in 1939 — a close ally of Democratic Gov. Culbert Olson.

But he was a victim of a legislative rebellion by bi-partisan foes of the governor and was replaced by Gordon Garland. Garland dramatically yanked out a phone from the rostrum — a phone he said connected the speaker's desk with the governor's office.

Peek left the Assembly to accept an appointment as secretary of state, but lost that job to Republican Frank M. Jordan in 1942. He is a native of West Union, Iowa.

Peek was among five of the seven Supreme Court justices on the ballot Nov. 8. All five were approved by voters by wide margins although substantial no votes were recorded.

Peek, Chief Justice Roger J. Traynor and Justice Louis H. Bruke had been targets of opposition to the court's decision declarating Prop. 14 unconstitutional.

Marinwood Assn. Backs Tax Reforms

Seven of the 10 directors of the Marinwood Assn. at a meeting last night voted to support the Statewide Homeowners Assn. legislative proposal for property tax reform, calling for assessment at 100 per cent of assessed value, gradual elimination of the tax on improvements, and abolition of the personal property tax.

The action followed by two weeks a talk by an outspoken advocate of such changes — John Nagy, president of the state association.

Nagy, also a Sacramento lobbyest, appraiser and tax consultant, lives in Chula Vista, San Diego County. He told some 80 Marinwood residents in his talk that the personal property tax as applied to inventories discourages industry from locating in California. He also said the tax on improvements penalizes a land owner for bettering his property. Shifting the full burden to land would discourage slum landlords and land speculators, he contended.

Jack G. Nixon, president of the Marinwood Assn., said all seven directors present last night voted in favor of the proposals.

The directors also agreed to put up $150 for the Christmas gift for the community to be presented to the Community Services District board for use as it sees fit.

Two new directors, Duncan Gordon and Richard Milward, were named to the board.

New officers will be elected Jan. 3, Nixon said.

Closer Church Harmony Asked

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Representatives of most major American Protestant and Orthodox churches today urged Christians to work harder to overcome "racial injustice, poverty, hunger, war and disunity within the household of God."

In a message to the 42 million members of the 34 denominations making up the National Council of Churches, its General Assembly applauded the growing solidarity among the leaders.

"We see opportunity as never before to join hands with all men in the struggle for sustenance, justice and peace," it declared.

Novato Salaries Low, City Manager's Report Finds

After much discussion last night, the Novato City Council agreed to accept a salary report by City Mgr. J. Julien Baget and approved some changes in personnel rules.

Councilmen said that they would like to settle the salary question before the end of the year, so agreed to take up salaries at their Dec. 27 meeting.

Baget's report compared salaries in San Rafael, San Anselmo, the State of California, Marin Municipal Water District, North Marin Water District, Novato Unified School District, Marin County, Hamilton Air Force Base, and Petaluma with Novato.

Novato was generally near the bottom of the wage scales in the comparisons.

Several changes in personnel rules won council agreement, but without formal action. These include exchanging the three hours off on Good Friday for the day after Thanksgiving, and a proviso that a former city employee returning within two years may be employed without examination.

Time and one-half will be paid for overtime to all below department head rank, with department heads receiving no overtime pay. The city has been paying straight time or giving compensatory time off.

Slayer Of Two Girls Faces His Sentence

MARTINEZ (UPI) — Dennis Stanworth, 24, faced sentencing in Superior Court today, and must pay with his life for the slaying of two 15-year-old girls.

A jury last Friday decided a verdict in the penalty trial of Stanworth, who earlier had been found guilty of shooting Susan Box and Carrie Lee Collison at an isolated beach Aug. 1. Stanworth pleaded guilty.

The Christmas berry, also known as California holly or toyon, is a member of the rose family.

Nazi Camp Survivor Back In TB Hospital

Tuberculosis contracted in a Nazi concentration camp and considered "cured" for 20 years has again hospitalized Mrs. Max (Marianne) Strassman of 122 Walnut Avenue, Corte Madera.

She has been a patient in the Terrace of Ross Hospital since Oct. 9 and expects to be there another three or four months—longer, should surgery become necessary.

She is resigned to spending Christmas away from her husband and their two sons, ages 7 and 4.

Like many of her fellow patients, Mrs. Strassman is a "reactivator." But unlike most TB victims, she knows where she got the disease. Also, being a nurse, she knew TB is never cured, only arrested.

Still, she admits the doctor's diagnosis "was an awful shock. My TB had been quiet so long!"

As frequently happens, Mrs. Strassman's reactivation followed a prolonged illness which lowered bodily resistance. She had a severe case of mumps in May, 1965.

Her concern over a lingering cough prompted her to have two chest X-rays within a nine-month period. Last August she went for a third X-ray. TB reactivation was suspected—and confirmed by a culture test.

Mrs. Strassman became a nurse in her native Germany at the age of 17. Two years later she began four nightmarish years in the Auschwitz concentration camp. When the war's end released her, she was hospitalized in Sweden and found to have tuberculosis.

"We were all hospitalized," she says simply. "For four months we hadn't had anything to eat but watery soup and a few bad potatoes—the kind we fed the pigs. I weighed 67 pounds. Today I weigh 165."

Following her recovery, Marianne worked in the Swedish hospital for a year and in English hospitals for 10 years. In 1957 she came to San Francisco, where she met and married Max Strassman, German-born engraver. They moved to Marin four years ago.

Variance Requests

Sausalito Planning Commission will hear requests for variances from off-street parking requirements to enlarge a laundromat at 328 Pine Street and to convert the Purity Store property to small shops when it meets today at 8 p.m. at City Hall.

Christmas Party For Loma Verde

Loma Verde Homeowners Assn. will hold a Christmas party for all children of the subdivision at 1 p.m. on Dec. 18 in the Loma Verde School.

Santa Claus will visit any shut-in reported to the group between 11 a.m. and noon the same day, then will attend the party, the association reported today.

The association's outdoor lighting contest will be judged on the night of Dec. 21, with the first place winner to receive a perpetual trophy and $15. Prize for second place is $10.

Officers for 1967 are to be proposed by the nominating committee at the association's Jan. 9 meeting, with election scheduled Feb. 6.

Six New Courses Added To Adult Night School

Sir Francis Drake High School has added six new courses—from weightlifting to film appreciation—to its 10-week winter adult education program which begins Jan. 3. Registration will be Dec. 15 from 7 to 9 p.m.

The new courses, to be taught Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7:30 p.m., will be in art metal and jewelry, conditioning and weight training for men, international cookery, venture into mathematics, mixed chorus, and motion picture history and appreciation.

Joseph Biasotti will teach the jewelry course; Peter Hayward, weight training; Mrs. Ann Lett, cookery; David Nulsen, mathematics; Drake chorus director Darrel Parker, mixed chorus; and Robert Johnson, film appreciation.

Other winter courses at the school are: Physical fitness for women, clothing, tailoring, piano, art, ceramics, shorthand, photography workshop, English grammar, beginning conversational French, American history, conversational Spanish, bookkeeping and typing.

Dean of the adult education program is Mrs. Evelyn Leedy.

At first man ate all of the grain, including the hulls. Later the hulls were removed as man learned to process to kernels.

Desalting Plant For Florida Keys

PITTSBURGH (UPI) —The largest single-unit desalting plant in the United States will be built in Key West, Fla., by Westinghouse Electric Corp.

The 2,620,000-gallon-a-day facility will be the first commercial application in the United States of a seawater desalting plant to provide a community's water needs.

Pool License Due

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Unless written protest is filed, the contractors state license board announced today it will issue a limited specialty contractor's license on Dec. 22 to Harold Dougan, doing business as Paradise Pool Service, P.O. Box 1014, San Rafael.

Demo Group Sets Cocktail Party

"The Course of Liberalism in California Politics" will be discussed at a Kent Woodlands cocktail party Friday at 6 p.m. at the Harold Watkin home at 8 Acorn Way, Kentfield, under sponsorship of Americans for Democratic Action.

Scheduled speakers include Thomas W. Braden, president of the State Board of Education; Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, and Terry Francois, San Francisco supervisor.

Mrs. Leonard Sperry of Tiburon said the no-host cocktail party is open to the public.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION — SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1966 — 27

NEAR FATAL FIRE

Anthony Giammona almost lost his life in the fire that left his home at 28 Manor View, Oak Manor, in this ruin. His brother, Sal, who lives next door, pulled him out after he collapsed in the smoke. Fire started here, in living room, when a spark from the fireplace landed on the Christmas tree. Damage was estimated at $45,000 to home and contents. (See story on page one.)

Weatherman Still Expects Blue Sky

Showers began again in Marin shortly before noon today, but the Weather Bureau predicted clearing skies later.

Fair weather also was predicted for tonight and tomorrow, with only a 10 per cent chance of rain tonight and 5 per cent tomorrow.

The storm which moved away yesterday left only light rain in Marin, but caused considerable damage in Kern and Tulare counties.

Highest rainfall measurement in Marin was taken at noon in San Rafael where .59 of an inch had fallen in 24 hours.

Near Porterville today, National Guardsmen evacuated some 200 families from their homes as the Tule River washed over its banks.

Steveral communities were completely isolated in both counties. State Division of Forestry helicopters linked the Kern County town of Kernville to the outside, ferrying drinking water to the town's hospital. The Kern River rose there, forcing evacuation of another 200 persons and smashing a concrete bridge.

Mobile Camp and Mountain Home Camp, in Tulare County on the Kaweah River, were isolated but reported they had enough supplies for five days, the Associated Press reported.

Near Three Rivers, a Navy helicopter crew braved tricky winds and sheets of rain to rescue 15 persons stranded on Trailer Isle. Three Rivers also is in Tulare County.

Camp Wilson, east of Porterville, recorded 19 inches of rain between 7 a.m. Monday and 10 a.m. Tuesday.

No casualties have been reported during the flooding, but the storm figured in more than a score of traffic fatalities.

Hundreds of head of livestock have drowned in several areas.

reported the Federal-State River Forecast Center in Sacramento.

The Eel River, which flooded out a score of farm families near Fernbridge in northwestern California, had fallen, and so had the Russian River north of Marin.

It was the Eel which caused extensive loss of life and millions of dollars in damage in the 1964 Christmas week flood.

Rainfall figures reported at 8 a.m. in Marin for the past 24 hours included: Sausalito, .38; Bolinas, .34; Mill Valley, .30; Tamalpais Valley, .26; San Anselmo, .25; Marin County Civic Center, .23; Fairfax, .25; Belvedere, .22; Inverness, .20; Santa Venetia, .20; Terra Linda, .20; Larkspur corporation yard, .15; Chevy Chase, .15; Novato, .12; and Point Reyes, .12.

$550,000 Auto Accident Suit

A Greenbrae woman, Josephine Ann Sollecito, 24, has filed a $550,000 suit in Marin Superior Court for injuries she suffered in a traffic accident Feb. 4 on a Greenbrae off-ramp of Highway 101.

The plaintiff, of 64 Via La Cumbre, alleges William M. Burns, 18, of 113 Lakeside Drive Corte Madera, was intoxicated and drove recklessly, resulting in his vehicle hitting a guard rail and a chain link fence before ramming a freeway sign post.

Mrs. Sollecito, a passenger, suffered a broken right leg and left ankle, and multiple cuts. She asks $250,000 general damages and $300,000 punitive damages.

California Highway Patrol said Burns' auto, which had broad slick racing tires on the rear wheels, went into a skid while traveling north on the off-ramp.

Naming Of College Trustees Tomorrow

The Marin Junior College District Board of Trustees last night interviewed six of the 12 candidates for two positions on the board at a closed session.

Two will be appointed at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Room C-4 of the Communications Center at the college. The board will have a dinner meeting at 6 p.m. with the Academic Senate in the Student Center.

The board will consider employment of an administrative assistant for government projects, and resignation of the present assistant, William Collins. The board will also consider employment of an administrative intern.

The full slate of credit and non-credit courses to be offered next semester will be presented. Applications for $428,000 in federal funds for a science program, and for $386,000 for a planetarium will be considered.

Bids will be opened tomorrow for purchase of equipment under the National Defense Education Act, and a contract may be awarded tomorrow night.

Auto Broken Into

Charles E. Lucas told San Rafael police yesterday that someone broke in through the windwing of his car, while it was parked at the Northgate Shopping Center Nov. 30, and stole a $50 man's suit.

In Good Condition

Pamela Pierson, 35, of 44 Tamalpais Drive, San Rafael, was in good condition at Marin General Hospital today, after injuring her back in a fall in apartment 213 at 215 Bayview Street, San Rafael, early today.

Anti-City Move Is Appraised

Tiburon residents have begun to line up on both sides of the dis-incorporation fence since Monday's announcement that a group will try to revert the young city back to county control.

Frank Mantegani, chairman of the Committee to Disincorporate Tiburon, said today only 424 signatures are needed to call a special election on disincorporation—"and many people are volunteering to sign."

Tiburon City Mgr. Lawrence D. Rose said a check on past Californian disincorporation actions disclosed no success in recent years. An attempt to dissolve the city of Fontana in Southern California in 1953 failed, he said. He called disincorporation attempts after two years "not unusual and almost characteristic."

Tiburon residents have decided opinions too. Realty broker Edward P. Ward said he sensed a "strong undercurrent of dissatisfaction with the way the city is being run. But since we've got incorporation perhaps we should mature to adulthood and make it work."

Old time resident Fred J. Buscher didn't feel disincorporation would help, nor did he think much of incorporation. "Tiburon was a nice place to live in the early days but it's so bad now there's no hope for it either way. Taxes are too high and there is no place here for older people any more. I'm being run out of my old home town," he grumbled.

Main Street merchant Mrs. Mimi Berticevich, a member of the Tiburon Parks and Recreation Commission, said she is very happy with incorporation, citing the realigning of Tiburon Boulevard along the water as "a big step we wouldn't have accomplished without being a city."

She felt the county planning commission "made many errors in granting permits for buildings we now find undesirable because we were so far from San Rafael that they didn't understand our problems."

A resident of the unincorporated area of Tiburon Peninsula said "we are getting along fine." He added "Marin is one of the best run counties in the country, and incorporation or annexation wouldn't do anything for my area."

Yule Gifts Stolen

Dorothy Paganini of 600 Point San Pedro Road, San Rafael, complained to San Rafael police yesterday that someone stole $53 worth of Christmas gifts from her car while it was parked at the Northgate Shopping Center between 10:30 and 11:45 a.m. yesterday.

Drath Balks At Oath Of Central Committee

Proposed seating of a new member of the Marin Democratic Central Committee created an uproar last night at the meeting of the committee in the San Rafael courthouse.

"Peace candidate" Phillip Drath, who ran unsuccessfully for the Democratic nomination for Congress, was voted into the Democratic Central Committee in August to fill a vacancy. But he has refused to take the oath of office in its entirety.

"The first part of the oath is enough," Drath declared today. "I have no objection to swearing to uphold the Constitution of the United States and of the State of California. That is enough. What more can you ask? The last part that has to do with belonging to an organization that seeks to overthrow the U.S. Government was added during the Joe McCarthy period to get at people who wouldn't go along with Joe McCarthy. No one should be forced to sign such a ridiculous oath."

Drath made it clear that he has never advocated the overthrow of the government, but as a Quaker, he objects to that portion of the oath "in principle."

If he must swear to such an oath, Drath said, he would not become a member of the central committee.

Albert Gately, chairman of the Marin Democratic Central Committee, announced he would seek legal advice from the county counsel to see what can be done about Drath's membership on the committee.

Marin Demos Urge Brown To Commute Executions

Marin Democratic Central Committee members last night urged Gov. Edmund G. Brown to commute the death sentences of all men on Death Row in San Quentin Prison.

The central committee, headed by Albert Gately, made the plea in a resolution introduced by Elaine Guthrie. The resolution also commends the governor for reviewing cases in which he has granted commutation in the past.

The Democrats approved another resolution which asks that the Christmas truce in Viet Nam be made the occasion for halting U.S. bombings permanently in both North and South Viet Nam, and declares that the cessation of bombing symbolizes the United States' good faith in seeking to implement the 1954 Geneva agreement on Viet Nam.

Robert Politzer moved for the second resolution, which was supported by several speakers, including Phil Drath, Michael Healy, and Neil Abercrombie.

The Democrats also endorsed Hugh Cassidy for the postmastership in San Rafael to succeed Warren H. Williams, who will retire at the end of this month.

Board Seeking Flood Actions

The Corte Madera Sanitary District board last night decided to ask the City of Larkspur to take corrective action to prevent flooding in the district's pumping station on Industrial Way.

The board approved installation of a sidewalk by Ruggeri Building Co. in front of the Paradise Drive Pumping Station for $143.

Arraignment Set On Bilking Count

Frank Lawrence Pyeatt, 40, is scheduled for arraignment at 1:30 p.m. Friday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of tricking a San Rafael liquor distributor out of $483 in whiskey.

Pyeatt, of Newark, Alameda County, was arrested last Friday by San Rafael police. He is free on $2,200 bail. Police said he allegedly placed a false order Oct. 31 with Golden Gate Distributing Co., 1942 Fourth Street, on behalf of the Old Adobe Room in Petaluma. A man later picked up the liquor. When the Petaluma tavern was billed, the distributor learned it had not placed the order.

Homestead Housing Hearing Set

Final plans for the county housing authority's 28-unit, low-cost housing development in Homestead Valley will be reviewed at a special authority meeting Dec. 19 at 8 p. m. at 429 Drake Avenue, Marin City, authority director Donald O. Stutsman said today.

Commissioners last night set the special meeting also to consider a study by E. M. Schaffran of San Francisco for a leased housing program. Stutsman said he expects the study will recommend that the authority lease 200 units.

Expenditure of up to $1,500 was authorized to remove electric lines from the Marin City site owned by Tamalpias Union High School District. The district will spend $5,000 to grade and clean up the site.

No action was taken on contract provisions proposed by the county human rights commission on employment of minority race workers on housing authority projects.

Commissioners wrote off five delinquent tenant accounts totaling $650, for a total of $1,330 for 1966.

Meeting as the redevelopment agency, commissioners deferred a requirement that California Development Co. take ownership of 12 acres in Marin City, pending financing of 27 townhouse units and 86 apartment units.

Standard Oil Co.'s new service station in Marin City has been leased to Mac Page of Marin City, commissioners were told, and is expected to open in about two weeks.

Commissioners approved a $490 contract with William L. Kapranos, landscape architect, to plan planting islands on Donahue Street at the entrance to the community.

Trustees Study Art Programs

San Anselmo School District trustees heard a report last night on the district art program and on the volunteer Marin Museum Assn. art appreciation program.

A special board meeting was set for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at Isabel Cook School to study faculty negotiating council recognition.

Faculty and district administrators will meet with Mrs. Alice Duval, consultant on elementary education in Contra Costa County, to discuss the district social studies program on Dec. 14 at 3:45 p.m. at Isabel Cook School.

Burglars smashed a window at the Greenbrae Union Service Station, 501 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, last night and took seven tires and a tool box.

Two of the tires were found this morning in a hedge behind the station, according to Larkspur police.

Cal Students Recess Strike As Regents Threaten Staff Firings

BERKELEY (UPI) — University of California officials crushed a strike by students and teaching assistants yesterday, bringing an end to a four-day boycott of classes.

The rebel students and teaching assistants, who grade papers and aid professors in large classes, gave in to a blunt threat by the Board of Regents that any faculty member who continued the strike would be fired.

Faced with the loss of support by the junior faculty members, the students also voted officially to declare a "temporary recess" to the boycott. The approximately 600 students who attended the late night meeting said they reserved the right to "organize and prepare for the resumption of the strike" after the Christmas holidays.

It was also obvious that the striking students were extremely concerned about final exams, scheduled to begin in five days.

Two leaders of the classroom boycott—admitted Communist Bettina Aptheker and Mario Savio, non-student and veteran firebrand leader of the Free Speech Movement at UC two years ago—declared the strike, which began last Thursday, a success. But it was unclear what concessions the strikers had won by their efforts.

BETTINA APTHEKER
Claims strike success

Key to the impass was the status of the nearly 300 teaching assistants, members of the American Federation of Teachers, Local 1570, who did not conduct classes since the strike started. Estimates varied widely as to how many of the 27,500 students at Berkeley joined the boycott.

The Regents, meeting in emergency session in nearby Oakland, voted 14-1 with two abstentions that all university personnel "effective as of today, including all levels of faculty and teaching assistants, who participate in any strike . . . will thereby be subject to termination of their employment."

Regent Edwin Pauley of Los Angeles cast the lone negative vote, urging that the striking assistants be fired immediately instead.

Coffin Enters Doctor's Trial

FREEHOLD, N.J. (AP) — Dr. Carl Coppolino's defense has suggested that a coffin bearing his alleged victim's remains collapsed "six feet under," causing a fracture in the dead man's windpipe.

Coppolino, 34, is accused of strangling retired Army Lt. Col. William E. Farber, a neighbor, three years ago in suburban Middletown Township.

"Did you ever hear a report that the coffin had caved in?" defense attorney F. Lee Bailey asked three prospective jurors during yesterday's murder trial proceedings.

All three said they had not.

Bailey did not elaborate on the possibility of a caved-in coffin, except to say that the prime issue in the young anesthesiologist's trial was whether Farber actually was murdered.

Supervisors Join Study Of Dam On Walker Creek

Marin County supervisors yesterday agreed to join North Marin County Water District and the state in feasibility study of a dam on Walker Creek.

A state grant of $25,000 is available and the water district and county could put up $12,500 each to match it, Water District Mgr. Jerome B. Gilbert told the board.

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen revived his proposal of 15 years ago, for study of an earth dam across the mouth of Tomales Bay and conversion of the bay to a fresh water reservoir.

"I object," said Supervisor Thomas T. Storer.

Kettenhofen said he was convinced such a project would come to pass in the next 75 years. Gilbert said the area could be studied, but that was about all he would say.

Adoption of the Walker Creek agreement included a request to the board of Marin Municipal Water District that it reconsider participating. The district board recently tabled the request.

Contribution of the county and water district would be in staff time. Gilbert said the county could provide the necessary land use and recreation studies.

He said the dam could be about four times the size of Nicasio Reservoir and have twice the annual yield.

The study has been repeatedly delayed, Gilbert said, because the district has found it cheaper to get supplemental water from Russian River. Interest has been revived by recent annexation of 10 acres on the eastern shore of Tomales Bay to the North Marin District.

The study would be funded by the state in 1968, but the application must be submitted by next Wednesday, Gilbert told the board.

Airlift Ends; Strike Is Over

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — The airlift to Union Carbide Corp.'s strikebound mining and metal division plant here has ended.

The company started the helicopter airlift of supplies last week to bring provisions to non-striking workers inside after plant entrances were blocked by mass picketing.

An agreement Tuesday between the company and United Steelworkers Local 3081, AFL-CIO, ended both the airlift and the mass picketing.

11:29 p.m., Oak Manor—Fire, caused by spark from fireplace igniting Christmas tree, did $45,000 to home and contents of Anthony Giammona at 28 Manor View. Giammona was overcome by smoke and had to be pulled to safety.

Two Prison Escapers Still Not Captured

Richrad Henry Smith, 28, and Ernest Edgar Little, 38, were still at large today after escaping from San Quentin Prison ranch.

Smith, convicted burglar, and Little, kjailed on bad check charges, climbed a fence under cover of a rainstorm Sunday night.

County Clearing Unsanitary Areas

Marin County supervisors learned yesterday that several nuisance and unsanitary conditions cited by the San Geronimo Valley Assn. have been or are in process of being corrected by the County Public Works and Health departments.

Association president James A. Bevans wrote the board several weeks ago to complain about the burned-out grocery store in Forest Knolls (he said it is a breeding ground for rats) a horse on Castro Street in Forest Knolls allegedly kept under unsanitary conditions, and nearby scatterings of old cars and car parts.

He also complained of a building on Castro Street only partially torn down, undercut pavement on Charles Lane where it enters Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and litter in the creek near Montezuma Street.

The health department reported that the owner of the property where the horse is stabled, R. A. Bohman, has been asked to clean up the manure pile as soon as weather permits; the cars and parts of cars were gone when the department went to investigate, and litter in the creek continues to be a problem despite posting of signs and the necessity for the owner to haul away many loads of other people's garbage.

The public works department reported the burned store building will be completely burned by the county fire department "when the burning season begins."

The board asked that the departments' replies be referred to Bevans and if there are still further problems, he notify the board.

Present Insurance Carrier To Be Kept

After being told that both they and the county administrator's office had been misled on a "saving" in group life insurance for county employees, Marin supervisors yesterday opted to stick with the county's insurance carrier of 30 years.

County administrator Alan Bruce told the board that his staff had been misled by Harry C. Duncan, who said that the county could save $13,000 in annual premiums by switching from Travelers Insurance Co. to West Coast Life Insurance Co.

This came before the board two weeks ago and the decision was made then to make the change. There was a good deal of hearty back slapping over the "saving" and some discussion of where the $13,000 should be spent.

Since then, however, representatives of Travelers complained, saying that Duncan had failed to reflect the reciprocal payments the firm had been making after claims in prior years and the saving, after figuring net costs, was minimal.

County administrative analyst John L. Gibb said that saving would be about $1,600 a year in going to West Coast.

Joseph Barber of Travelers told the board yesterday, however, that $3,305 of the county premium each year goes into a pooling fund for coverage of accidental death or dismemberment, not shown in the West Coast schedule. The county could opt to drop this and come up with premiums considerably lower than West Coast, he said.

Supervisors asked that this be discussed in two weeks.

Auditor Urges Revolving Fund

Because of long delay in payment by federal and state agencies on capital projects they help support in Marin, County Auditor Controller Mitchael Mitchell recommended yesterday that a $200,000 revolving fund be established in next year's budget.

Mitchell said the county has been able to borrow from funds set up for the Veterans Memorial Auditorium to cover delays in the past, but that project will probably get under way next year and the fund will be committed.

Supervisors saw the need and agreed to discuss the proposal at budget time in June.

Kim Novak Not Hurt In Mishap

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Kim Novak, twice injured in horse-riding and traffic accidents within the past 12 months, apparently escaped uninjured from a collision of her station wagon with another car on Sunset Boulevard.

Miss Novak, 33, refused medical treatment after the accident yesterday, officers said.

The occupants of the other car, Nancy L. Freed, 42, Los Angeles, and Shirley Harrison, 25, of suburban Encino, were treated and released at the University of California at Los Angeles Medical Center.

Two Drivers Hurt As Autos Collide

Two drivers were injured yesterday on the Golden Gate Bridge as three cars from Sausalito collided at 8:40 a.m.

California Highway Patrol said that as Paul Joseph Clark, 30, of 463 Bridgeway, attempted to pass other cars in slow-moving traffic on the bridge, he hit the rear of a car driven by Julia Louisa Lams, 32, of 110-A Second Street, and knocked it into the car ahead driven by Ernest George Lion, 60, of 26 Wray Avenue. Clark and Mrs. Lams told the patrol they would see their own doctors. Lion was unhurt.

WHY BUY NOW?

Here Are Eight Good Reasons Why You Should Make Your Dream Castle a Reality TODAY!

Just So Much Land Available

There are approximately 57,230,000 square miles of land surface on this old earth. And of that there is just so much for Marin County home sites. Land values through the years have increased as roads and highways improve.

Increased Population

By 1970 over half of the population of the United States will be under 25. Some experts predict the population is going to increase by an estimated 100 million people during the next 30 years. Where are they all going to live?

3.

More People in Home Buying Bracket

The age group which buys the largest number of single family homes is from 30 to 34. Many good buys in existing homes are on the market now and the so-called "tight money" has not materially affected buyers applying for FHA, GI or VA loans.

A Hedge Against Inflation

Many economists agree that buying a home is a great hedge against possible inflation. Instead of spending money you are investing it. You also enjoy the pride and joy of ownership of the home that reflects your way of life.

Tax Deductions

When you buy a home you can deduct from your income tax return every penny you pay in interest on your home loan. This can be a sizable deduction. You are not able to deduct rent receipts though.

Wage Increases Reflected in Building Costs

Whenever skilled labor receives an increase in wages these increases, in one way or another, are passed along to the consumers. This holds true for wage increases for unskilled labor and for those receiving the minimum wage.

Trend of Interest Rates

Over the past several months interest rates have inched up. They may stabilize although some expect them to climb. At the moment they may be lower than they will be later on.

Good Buys Are on the Market Now

New real estate becomes available every day as family situations change by expansion, transfer or death. If your credit standing is good let your real estate broker help you explore the various financing means which are available today.

In space age lingo, "nominal" means being normal or within the limits of the plan, and "in the green" means everything is proceeding well.

Artificial Heart Plans Bypassed

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — The National Heart Institute has given up thought of pushing a crash program to design an artificial heart in favor of research to improve heart pumps and other assist devices.

One reason is that science is much closer to reaching a significant level of improvement in that field than it is in the realm of totally implantable devices. And since one of its major aims is to rehabilitate patients, it make sense to follow the easier path, according to NHI spokesmen.

The Heart Institute program, which had been going slowly, now has a definite, three-step plan to follow beginning with efforts to create devices that will reduce the work load on a natural heart and increase coronary blood flow—a kind of booster heart. Step two looks to the day a device to assist the heart can be permanently implanted, and three, in logical progression, is aimed at spectacular—the totally implantable artificial heart.

The crash program begun a few years ago to bring U.S. space efforts up to par with the Russians and beyond was the inspiration for a matching effort in medicine, but the nature of the fields is different and the more logical, first things first procedure seems the better choice at this time, a spokesman said.

However, there is still a lot to be learned from the space scientists' approach to things, Dr. Frank W. Hastings of NHI told a meeting of the American Institute of Aeronautics in Boston. Dr. Hastings is responsible for the workings of NHI's artificial heart program.

It is important that the heart program be kept in the hands of medical science, Dr. Hastings believes, though the cooperation and skill of engineers is essential. The earlier push had been relying heavily on engineering methods put together by areospace industries.

Basically, the answer to heart disease is not surgery and it is not a machine. The best solution will come when science understands what goes wrong in the human body in the first place, and is able to practice preventive rather than corrective medicine. And this answer requires the knowledge of the medical scientists, not the machine maker.

"We're not really in the 'hardware' business," NHI's former director Robert P. Grant said before his death a couple months ago. "Our problem is to solve disease, and in this respect the artificial heart is a drastic solution. Part of our job is to reduce the need for such devices at all."

Now, for the first time since 1963, part of the program's treasury will go to basic research—the study of myocardial infarction. In other words, NHI scientists are going to try to find out why some cells in the heart wall die and what they can do to save them.

This does not mean by any stretch of the imagination that heart devices are not valuable and indeed, vital. It does mean, however, the NHI considers it a mistake to pour all its funds and all its talent in that direction.

A number of obstacles block the way to completely satisfactory heart devices and, likewise, to the total heart. It will probably take two years just to figure out what all the problems with current pumps are and then fix them, and this prediction assumes no new problems will show up along the way. Five years may be a reasonable goal for achieving a totally implantable device, but experts such as Dr. Michael E. DeBakey are quick to point out that predictions are not always useful or accurate.

There is no satisfactory energy source for implantable hearts at the present time, nor any truly satisfactory material to make it from. If you use electricity, you end up with a little steam engine and have to get rid of the heat, a NHI spokesman commented. With atomic energy, problems of radiation protection crop up. The possibility of using electromagnetic energy is being investigated, but no sure results are available.

Then, once a highly efficient energy converter is found, it must be housed in an organ gentle enough not to destroy the blood's red corpuscles coursing through it, and small enough to fit inside the pericardial sac.

To support its research, NHI asked Congress for $3.8 million this year, and got $13.8 million. Spokesmen for the National Institute of Health said they do not expect the President's recent whack at the budget to cut deeply into funds alloted for medical research.

Efforts To Control Jet Noise Slowed

By FRED McGEHAN
Advance News Service

BOSTON—A federal effort to control jet noise at airports is being slowed down by a White House-ordered budget squeeze and other uncertainties.

Two related programs deemed "urgently needed" by a high-level government study group earlier in the year are being cut back and their scopes limited.

The slowdown came to light at a symposium on aircraft noise at a national meeting here of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics.

One program was to have set guidelines for noise abatement at the three airports with the worse problems—Kennedy International Airport in New York, O'Hare Field in Chicago and Los Angeles International Airport.

The second was to have extended the guidelines to more than 300 other airports and anticipate future noise problems up to 1975 as short-haul jets are introduced to smaller airports. The studies were to have been conducted by the Federal Aviation Agency.

Dr. Nicholas E. Golovin, No. 2 man in the president's office of science and technology, dropped hints in a speech that cutbacks were in the making.

He said "intrinsic" technical difficulties in muffling noise had slowed progress to the point where it was felt considerable more study is needed before proceeding further.

It is also possible the cutback may be budgetary — a 25 per cent reduction in all research not related to the Viet Nam war effort has been rumored for several weeks.

One FAA source, who wished to remain unidentified, said the programs were being reduced from two-year studies costing $1 million to short-term projects costing $100,000.

The FAA was apparently unable to convince budget analysts that the long-term studies would produce positive results.

"We didn't want to spend $1 million for a two-year study and perhaps come up with results that couldn't be applied to most airports," a source said.

Instead, he reported, the FAA will tackle the problem in bits and pieces, weighing each finding.

As a first step, the FAA is expected to contract soon with two consulting firms for "programs definitions." Results from this initial brain storming would be available by next July.

It is expected that a decision will be made at that time on whether to ask for significant fund increases to finance a full-scale study.

The two programs that fell under the budget ax sprang from 10 recommendations made to government agencies in March by the Office of Science and Technology. Other recommendations called for in-depth studies of engine designs, land use and landing approach procedures to reduce noise.

One-Color Funeral

BRACKNELL, England (UPI) —In her will Muriel Thompson said she wanted an all-green funeral — green dress, green-painted coffin, green cars. She was buried before the will was read so she didn't get the green dress or coffin. But relatives, knowing her love for the color, had easy consciences. They had driven in a green car (Miss Thompson's) to the cemetery, and draped her coffin in green silk.

Six major conservation bills were recently signed into law by President Johnson.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Colds Are As Prevalent Today As They Were 20 Years Ago

VAN DELLEN

Colds are as prevalent today as they were 20 years ago. A group of physicians in England have conducted research on respiratory infections for at least this long and although they cannot suggest a remedy, they have learned a few things about the disease that we always suspected but could not prove.

Despite the prevalence of colds, the Englishmen found that they are less contagious than influenza, measles, and other viral disorders. In addition, the cold microbes are inactivated rather quickly by drying. The bacteria are best passed along in the air in medium-sized beads that are spewed out when talking, sneezing, or coughing. Small droplets dry too fast and large pieces of contaminated mucus fall to the ground before they can be inhaled.

COLDS ARE caught by close contact with the sufferer and there is a good possibility that people are constantly exchanging their respiratory viruses. It is here that resistance enters the picture. Colds are more prevalent among those who are exhausted or weakened through a period of stress. Sudden changes in weather also play a role.

Most of the infectious material comes from the nose. Lesser amounts are produced by coughing and talking than by sneezing and blowing the nose. The air in a room in which children with colds are having a party is loaded with viruses.

MOST OF US develop temporary immunity to respiratory involvements and when a recurrence takes place we usually suspect another virus. This is logical because hundreds of different strains are capable of causing nasal and throat infections. A virus that causes very little trouble in one person may find another victim so susceptible that the outcome is bronchial pneumonia.

In all probability most common colds are caused by the rhinoviruses. Rhino refers to the nose and to date more than 80 different rhinoviruses have been isolated.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

SUBSPECIALIST

A reader writes: I looked up my doctor in a special directory and he is listed as "subspecialty —cardiology." Does this mean that he is a notch or so beneath a specialist?

REPLY

No, it means just the opposite. This physician became a specialist in internal medicine first and then went on to become a heart specialist. He spent up to four years learning his specialty and had to pass a tough oral and written examination to become a certified specialist. This specialty usually is listed as cardiovascular rather than cardiology.

SKULL FRACTURE, SENSES

L.A.H. writes: Could a skull fracture sustained in an accident affect the senses of taste and smell?

REPLY

Yes, if the centers governing these senses were involved in the injury.

EAR BONE HARDENING

Mrs. L. G. writes: Would calcium taken during pregnancy be responsible for the development of otosclerosis in a woman at that time?

REPLY

No. The body uses only the calcium that is needed and excretes the remainder.

Christmas Lights Are Shining All Over Marin

CENTERPIECE — Largest of the decorations at the Corte Madera Shopping Center is the star-topped, tree-shaped display in the parking lot, visible to travelers along Highway 101.

SNOWFLAKES — Roofs at Northgate Shopping Center Unit One are decorated with a series of lighted snowflakes, similar to the one shown atop the Bank of America branch.

SANTA'S REINDEER — The red-nosed Rudolph leads the team of reindeer pulling Santa's sleigh at the Hub intersection in San Anselmo.

NORTHGATE STAR — Shining like a beacon at Northgate Shopping Center Unit One is the star atop the Crocker-Citizen bank.

Bishops Approve Equal Worship

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Spain's College of Catholic Bishops gave final secret approval to the long-delayed law of religious liberty in a conference which ended yesterday, reliable sources in close touch with church leaders said today.

The action removed the last major barrier to speedy passage of the law granting Spain's 30,000 Protestants, its Jewish community, and other minorities equal rights to worship and practice their faiths in Roman Catholic Spain.

The next step is formal approval by the national Cabinet.

The proposal retains Roman Catholicism as the official religion of Spain.

Today 35 per cent of all workers are women, whereas at the turn of the century they made up only 18 per cent of the total labor force.

Nine Are Drowned

RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — Nine Brazilian marines died yesterday when a landing craft with more than 30 marines aboard sank during maneuvers, the Brazilian navy announced.

Tonga was first discovered by Dutch navigators in 1616, and later visited by Captain William Bligh in his ship the Bounty. Captain James Cook, English seafarer and naturalist, touched at Tonga in the 1700's.

Sewer Board Fills Vacancy In Tiburon

Edward P. Ward, of 2220 Vistazo East Street, was appointed Monday night to the Tiburon Sanitary District board to replace Agelo P. Mirata, who resigned in October.

Director James Murray voted against Ward's appointment.

Plant Supt. John A. MacFarlane volunteered to take Ward and the board's secretary Francis P. Ryan on a tour of other Marin County and East Bay Sanitary districts.

The board decided to postpone discussion with Holtzinger Brothers of repair to a damaged sewer on Red Hill until the weather permits work to be done.

Directors authorized a check for $15,000 be deposited with the county clerk's office to cover condemnation proceedings involved in purchase of Northwestern Pacific railroad property adjacent to the treatment plant on Mar West and Paradise Drive.

The board's next meeting will be held Jan. 9 because of the holiday on the regular meeting date, Jan. 2.

No Opposition Now To Monagan

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A Republican assemblyman, saying he's been assured "all factions" of the GOP will have a voice in house leadership, has decided against opposing Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan.

Robert E. Badham, R-Newport Beach, indicated yesterday he was dissatisfied with Monagan's leadership last year and considered running for the minority leadership post to assure "cross-section representation of all factions of the Republican Party in the leadership of the caucus."

But discussions with Monagan and GOP Gov.-elect Ronald Reagan had dispelled any such fears for the upcoming legislative year, Badham said.

Home Burglarized

Theft from her home of a fur coat, luggage, jewelry and other property worth $896 was reported last evening to Mill Valley Police by Margaret Nevada Williams, 223 Molino Avenue. The stolen items were taken during the day, she said.

Bucs Bolster Mound Corps With Another Trade

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates have aquired pitcher Dennis Ribant from the New York Mets, pulling off their third major trade within a week in an all-out effort to fashion a pennant-winner in 1967.

Ribant, a right-hander who was the Mets' top pitcher with an 11-9 mark and 3.21 earned run average, and outfielder Gary Kolb came to Pittsburgh yesterday in exchange for veteran pitcher Don Cardwell and outfielder Don Bosch. Cardwell was 6-6 in 32 games.

"Ribant is the man we wanted," said Pirate general manager Joe L. Brown. "He is one of the fine young pitchers in the league and we are tremendously pleased to get him. He is a good pitcher now and has a chance to be an outstanding one."

The Ribant trade complements two other exchanges which appear to have considerably strengthened Pittsburgh, which faltered at the end of the season and was eliminated in the last few days, finishing third behind pennant-winning Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Last week Brown got pitcher Juan Pizarro from the Chicago White Sox for cash and shortstop Maury Wills from Los Angeles for third baseman Bob Bailey and infielder Gene Michael.

But Brown, the man who engineered all three deals, isn't making any 1967 predictions.

"I think it's hard to win in in the winter," Brown said. "We had a fine year last year and we hope to have a better year in 1967."

In analyzing the 1966 season, Brown said the Pirates main problem was pitching—and he went to the trading mart with an aim to add muscle to a mound corps which lacked an effective "stopper," rarely turned in a complete game and failed to protect a big lead often furnished by the bats of the power-laden Pirates.

Brown said at this early stage manager Harry Walker's plans are to use Pizarro as a starter with the hope that Ribant can break into rotation.

"Without a doubt we've added two very fine pitchers," said Brown, declining to comment on how many victories he would like to see Pizarro and Ribant turn in. "I just hope they will contribute, that's all.

"Wills is sure to help us on offense and defense," he said. "Not only with his base running but with his experience and leadership."

Brown also said four minor league pitching prospects--John Gelnar, Luke Walker, Jim Shllenback and Dock Ellis--brighten Pittsburgh's chances but refused to name the Pirates as the team to beat in the National League.

"As far as we're concerned the other nine are the teams to beat," said Brown. "We had a very fine ball club last year and we think we have improved ourselves."

Brown also added the Pirates are still willing to trade.

"If we see something that will help our ball club, if something developes that will strengthen the club--well, we'll surely look into it," he said

ALONG MARIN'S SPORTS TRAIL

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

The Pursuit Of Excellence By A 10-Year-Old San Rafael Gal

PRACTICE—Can you picture yourself struggling out of the old sack at 4:30 a.m. to go ice skating?

Or changing from your jammies into sweat togs at 6 a.m. for a little five-mile jaunt around the neighborhood? Before breakfast?

Well, stop shaking, Bunkies. I don't do that nor do I expect you to, but I know a couple of Marin County youngsters who follow a similar schedule and love every masochistic minute of it.

JULIE McKINSTRY

I BRING up the subject today to emphasize the old adage that "practice makes perfect" and in this fun-loving sports world of ours one must sacrifice personal comfort to achieve stardom, mustn't one?

In last Thursday's I-J you may have read about Bob Bunnell, the Terra Linda High School junior who is the Marin County Athletic League's champion two-miler in track and the best cross-country to boot (no pun intended).

BOB REACHED the head of his athletic class through hard work. He's out running five miles every morning before school during certain months of the year or 10 miles in the evening during others.

My second shining example today is a 10-year-old doll named Julie McKinstry of 619 Cedarberry Lane, San Rafael.

WITH A dedication comparable to Bunnell's, Little Miss McKinstry arises at 4:30 a.m. daily to practice ice skating before school; resumes the rugged practice routine after school and is at it again on Sunday mornings.

Last summer Julie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard McKinstry, rented a home at Squaw Valley so she could train at Jimmy Gragan's summer skating school in the Olympic Ice Arena. How many 10-year-olds do you know who pursue excellence to this degree?

So? Well, in the past year Julie entered five competitive events and won four gold medals and one silver!

THIS WEEKEND she will be the only Marin Countian eligible to compete in the Pacific Coast Figure Skating Championships at Berkeley Iceland. To qualify, she won both the school figures and free skating events in the Intermediate Ladies Class at the Central Pacific Championships last month, also in Berkeley.

MISS JULIE, a fifth grader at Lucas Valley School, represents the Santa Rosa Figure Skating Club under the coaching of "Skippy" Baxter, former World and Olympic team member. She will perform at 9:50 a.m. Friday in the Intermediate Ladies Figures and again at 11 a.m. Saturday in the Intermediate Ladies Free.

A spunky little competitor, Miss McKinstry will be competing against the best in the west, but she'll give a good account of herself. Anyone as dedicated to a sport as she is can't help but succeed.

LIKE BUNNELL, she's going places.

Marin Catholic's Cagers Roll To Fourth Straight

It is beginning to seriously look as if there are the makings of a top contending basketball team at Marin Catholic.

Coach Gus Hassapakis' Wildcats, the only undefeated team in the Marin Athletic League, rolled to their fourth straight win last night, overpowering bigger Burlingame, 84-48.

The Wildcats soared to a 27-10 first-quarter lead, stretched it to 54-22 at the half and were never in trouble.

Ches Bornia took scoring honors this time, as he canned five fielders and 10 free throws for 20 points. Jim Ingrassia was next with 18 points and Paul Vickers had 10 points.

Marin Catholic 27 27 20 17—84
Burlingame 10 12 14 12—48

Marin Catholic—Ches Bornia, 5-10-20; Jim Ingrassia, 8-2-18; Rick Garms, 1-4-6; Harry Mattsinger, 2-4-8; Mark Carbone, 1-0-2; Paul McCarthy, 1-0-2. Totals: 29-26-84.

Burlingame — Ogirth, 3-0-6; Dillon, 1-1-3; LaLonde, 2-1-5; Mike Conally, 4-1-9; Evans, 0-1-1; Cookson, 3-3-9; Eisan, 3-1-7; Sogeldal, 1-1-3; Howard, 0-5-5. Totals: 17-11-48.

Seals To Launch Long Road Trip

OAKLAND (UPI) — The California Seals will launch an eight-game road trip that covers a two-week period tomorrow night at Seattle.

The Seals are tied for third place, but their record actually is a little better than that. At 9-8-3 they have 21 points in 20 games. Seattle has the same 21 points in 23 games and second place Vancouver at 28 points also has played two more games than the Seals.

WHICH PIECE DO YOU WANT?

That might be a question to think about as Michigan State football coach Duffy Daugherty (left) and Notre Dame mentor Ara Parseghian share a laugh over the stadium-shaped MacArthur Bowl, which was presented jointly to their teams at the National Football Foundation's awards dinner in New York last night. The bowl is awarded annually to the "outstanding college football team" and this was the first time it was awarded to co-champions. (AP Wirephoto)

NEW YORK (AP) — The rim on one of the baskets at Madison Square Garden is higher than it is on the other one.

The authority for that statement is San Francisco's hot-shooting Rick Barry and the way he was popping baskets through both hoops last night, he ought to know.

Barry, the National Basketball Association's leading scorer, drilled 47 points home, leading San Francisco to a 126-116 victory over the New York Knickerbockers in the second game of an NBA doubleheader.

In the opener, Boston finally snapped its Detroit hex, ripping the Pistons 130-111 and breaking a three-game losing streak against them. In the only other NBA game played, Philadelphia defeated Chicago 129-119.

Barry scored 22 points in the first half, 20 of them on field goals, as the Warriors raced to a 71-55 lead. He made only four field goals in the second half, mostly because of repeated fouling by New York and those different rims.

"The baskets we were shooting at in the first half had a higher rim and I was arching my shots to score," Barry said. "After we changed in the second half, I didn't compensate for the other basket, which has a lower rim.

"I was getting my position and my shots and there were times when I was sure my shots were going in but they'd just rim the basket and fall away."

Barry spent most of the third period at the foul line, sinking 14 of 15 attempts, a Madison Square Garden record. "I realize I'm going to be played tight," Barry said, "but the holding and pushing can get to you sometimes." He finished with 19 for 20 from the foul line.

The Warrior star seemed unperturbed by the defensive harassment he faced. "Sometimes I force my shots," he said, "but I always try to take decent ones. If they double team me, I know somebody's clear and I try to hit him."

Nate Thurmond controlled both backboards for San Francisco, grabbing 24 rebounds and Warrior Coach Bill Shaman called his big man "the most valuable center in the NBA. The way he's playing," Sharman continued, "he rates right up with Bill Russell and Wilt Chamberlain."

Russell played all but five minutes of Boston's first game victory over Detroit. It ended a three-game drought for the Celtics against the Pistons and Russell pointed to Sam Jones as the man who made the difference.

Jones, nursing a sore left hand, came off the bench and scored 23 points for Boston. "Having him in there certainly helps," said Russell, the Celts' player-coach. "He missed those first three games against them."

Jones said his hand did not both him. "As long as I'm not hit," he said, "It'll be okay."

Bailey Howell, who led Boston with 26 points, scored 16 of them in the third period as the Celtics broke away. John Havlicek had 25 for Boston. Eddie Miles led Detroit with 27.

Philadelphia, playing at home, got 31 points from Chamberlain and 21 from Chet Walker for its 23rd victory in 25 starts. It was the seventh straight victory for the 76ers who lead Boston in the Eastern Division by 4½ games.

Hal Greer had 20 for Philadelphia and became the 16th player in NBA history to pass the 12,000-point plateau. Keith Erickson led Chicago with 28.

POWERFUL UOP QUINT DUMPS FRESNO STATE

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

That's an awfully hungry bunch of Tigers playing basketball down at University of Pacific.

They took their 2-0 record to Fresno last night to tangle with Fresno State, ninth-ranked among the nation's small schools. What figured to be a battle turned into a waltz as UOP led 42-22 at the half and then coasted to an 85-58 win in a frightening exhibition of power.

UOP's 6-7 center Keith Swagerty, the man who could be battling Lew Alcindor in the pivot in NCAA action next spring, hit 27 points.

San Francisco, which battled UOP last season for the West Coast Athletic Conference crown, looked sharp in disposing of Hardin Simmons, 72-61, in an intersection at the Hilltop. Dennis Black had 10 for the Dons and grabbed 14 rebounds.

All was not peaches and cream for the WCAC, however. San Francisco State invaded St. Mary's and came from behind for a 76-73 win. Jerry West of the losers played up to a famous cage name by hitting 27 while State's Joe Galbo scored 25, including the bucket with 1:04 to go that sent the Gators ahead to stay.

Southern California small school powers Redlands and Valley State moved on. Redlands nipped Long Beach State 65-60 as Bruce Nelson had 17 for the winners and Dick Nelson the same number for the losers. Valley State invaded Westmont and triumphed 99-83. Mark Cooley of the winners and Rex Kochel of Westmont tossed in 25 points apiece.

Cal Aggies, which had won a couple in a Colorado swing, saw its record smashed in brutal fashion as powerhouse Colorado State smashed them 111-77. Allen Budde scored 23 for the losers, still 3-1 and a good bet in the Far Western Conference race.

Bart Starr Is Named NFL's Player Of Week

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — If Green Bay goes on to win the championship, they ought to give Bart Starr about 10 shares."

That was the comment of Jack Christiansen of the San Francisco 49ers to Ken Hartnett Associated Press Sports Writer, after Starr led the Packers to a 20-7 victory over the 49ers Sunday.

"Bart probably is the best quarterback in football today," said Christiansen, "and before quarterback in football today," said Christiansen, "and before he gets through — which I hope is soon — he may be recognized as the greatest of them all."

Starr completed 13 of 24 passes for 236 yards, including an 83-yard touchdown toss to Carroll Dale on the third play of the game. "Lucky," said Starr.

The canny veteran also sneaked home from the one for another TD. After the 49ers bounced back to make a game of it again, Starr hit Dale with a 48-yard pass that led to an insurance touchdown by Elijah Pitts.

This performance prompted The Associated Press to name Starr the Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Concannon, the No. 3 quarterback on the Eagles behind Norm Snead and King Hill, ran 15 times for 129 yards and one TD and completed 13 of 25 passes for 131 yards.

Phils Trade Culp For Ellsworth

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies today announced the acquisition of pitcher Dick Ellsworth from the Chicago Cubs for pitcher Ray Culp and undisclosed amount of cash.

Ellsworth, 26, a left hander, had an 8 win-22 loss record with the last place Cubs this season and an earned run average of 3.98.

Culp, 25, was 7-5 with an ERA of 5.03.

The $50,000 bonus player from Boston College has started only one other regular NFL game since he joined the Eagles three years ago.

"I'm two for two in this league," he said. "Maybe I ought to retire undefeated."

"I want to play quarterback in this league, not flanker or halfback," he said after the Eagles' 27-23 victory over Pittsburgh. "This game gave me added confidence and helped me emotionally."

49ers One-Point Pick Over Bears In Kezar Battle

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)—It's lucky it is near Christmas or the Chicago Bears might admit that they are coming to San Francisco with a grudge against the 49ers.

Asked if the Bears are bitter over the frantic 30-30 tie at Chicago between the two teams, Bear drum-beater Don Desmond said Coach George Halas told him not to discuss it "because we are approaching the Christmas season and it's a time for peace on earth and good will toward men."

The last-second 49er field goal that produced the tie was set up by some fisticuffs between Chicago linebacker Joe Fortunato and San Francisco end Monty Stickles—a pair of old foes. Chicago got a key 15 yard penalty against it and Fortunato later said Stickles was at fault.

After the 49ers sloshed around in the rain and mud briefly yesterday, Coach Jack Christiansen said films of last Sunday's Packer-49er game had convinced him that his team's mistakes were the difference.

Asked how a team could eliminate mistakes, Christiansen said bluntly that the only way "is to eliminate the people who have been making them."

"The people who have been playing have had plenty of opportunity to prove themselves," he said. "We didn't make changes last year. We tried to make some trades, but they didn't come off. We're going to try again. We've got to improve in some positions, by trade, draft or by using people we already have in camp."

Free Throw Does It For Indian Valley

Rick Soars sank a free throw with five seconds left in the game to give Indian Valley Lumber a 39-38 victory over Native Sons last night in a Rafael Recreation Deparement Adult Basketball "B" game.

Ray Kenny was high for Indian Valley with 10 but Native Son Keith Grady took game honors with 16 points.

In a Class A game, San Rafael Teachers held off Stop N Go Market 68-49, after almost blowing a 35-16 halftime lead. Bill Monti scored 16 points for the winners while Don Hanson had 17 for Stop N Go.

In another B game, San Francisco Theological Seminary swamped Fairchild, 54-19 as Ted Peels scored 14 points.

In C games, J. Barth outscored Montgomery Ward, 49-24 but Ward's Richard Krajewski took game honors with 10 points. McGraw Hill chopped down Dan Coleman Associates, 73-23, as John Silver poured in 23 points to tie Coleman Associates personally.

In a pair of C-1 games, Redmon Raiders, behind 18-26 at the half, steamrolled past the Harding Gophers, 53-41 as Willie Pierre dumped in 21 points and the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary ran away from San Rafael Post Office, 63-14. Louis Gilman and Gene Kishen had 15 points each for the winners.

San Rafael Wins Third Straight Wrestling Match

San Rafael High School's wrestling team rolled to its third dual meet victory without a loss by swamping Rohnert Park, 46-9 yesterday.

The Bulldogs took the first three matches by falls for a 15-0 lead before Rohnert Park won the next three on decisions to make it 15-9. But San Rafael won the next four matches and Rohnert Park had to forfeit the last three for the final margin.

Denny Eckart at 95 pounds, Jerry Draper at 103, Dale Meyers at 112, Dave Stein at 145 and Bob Maglione at 154 all won on falls. Bill Seglars at 138 and Pete King at 165 took decisions. In the best match of the day, Jack Hunt of San Rafael lost a close 5-7 decision to Rohnert Park's John Webb at 133 pounds.

JIM MURRAY

Minnesota's Marshall, The 'Fearsome Onesome'

Alas! The day of the individual is in its twilight. Even the Communists decry it as "the cult of personality" and run their country in tandem. Corporations are run by committee. Aviation has no more "lone eagles," planes are run now by "crews." The Lone Ranger would be a sextet in 1966.

Athletics are no exception. The "front four" is as familiar as the back nine. Pitchers start looking around for the bullpen about the sixth inning. Teams get guys who can hit behind the runner, not behind the fence. Even golf is veering more and more to a best-ball or four-ball event.

IT GIVES me great pleasure, then, to introduce James J. Marshall, the well-known parachutist, judo expert, defensive end, motorcyclist, and one-time campus bookmaker and dealer in used hub caps, marked down for immediate sale—the immediacy urged by the pell-mell approach of the cops.

JIM MARSHALL is his own man. He dances to his own music. He flies his own plane, sells stocks, soft drinks and crop chemicals, and specializes in spinning NFL quarterbacks on their axis—or axes.

Naturally, Jim has a brush moustache, and a wardrobe that would make James Bond go right out and sack his tailor.

ONE OCTOBER afternoon, when James, who spends his Sundays with the Minnesota Vikings, was late getting to the quarterback, George Mira, he found himself standing around with nothing to do when suddenly a fumbled football hove into view. Unfortunately, James was facing east at the moment and, of course, there was no chance to take a bearing or clear with the tower.

JAMES HAD two choices of goals. He chose the farthest one. Jim never was one to take the easy way out. He set sail with some of the niftiest, broken-field running ever seen. It had to be. Because, you see, 21 men were chasing James.

Not surprisingly, none of them caught him. Jim can ramble some for a 235-pounder. And that's how he became the first Viking defensive end in history to score for the San Francisco 49ers.

OF COURSE, it was only a 50% goof. Jim, after all, had only two choices of which way to run. Missing one out of two is easy. It only cost his team a gross of eight points—six they didn't get, and two the 49ers did. Jim's was the only eight-point play in the NFL that season.

LATER THAT month when Jim went back to his REAL sport—sky-diving—the pilot took the precaution of pointing the direction to the ground. He didn't want Jim to become the first parachutist to bail out for Des Moines and make Mars.

A DALLAS group which specializes in honoring boneheads every year sent Jim an ecstatic invitation to be their banquet guest. They went to elaborate preparations. The flight Jim was to take out of Chicago had the pilot and stewardess instructed to announce, as the plane circled over Dallas, "Please fasten your seat belts for our landing in Montreal. For those of you going on to Ottawa and Newfoundland, we will be on the ground 20 minutes." The Dallas airport signs had been changed to read "Welcome to Montreal" and were covered with frosted flakes.

THE JOKE was lost on Jim. You see, he REALLY WAS on his way to Montreal. He had taken the wrong plane out of Chicago. History does not record whether he went up to the French-speaking passenger agent and said, "O.K., buddy, the joke's over. You can start speaking Texan now and take the snow off all those skyscrapers. I know this is Dallas."

WELL, YOU can see where Jim is not just a face in the crowd. He's not a part of the "Fearsome Foursome." He's a Fearsome Onesome. And then some. He's a Front One. A man of many parts—all of which may be spread over the landscape one day, because Jim yearns to hold the free-fall record which is the span of time over which you zoom earthward before you pull the ripcord.

THE RECORD is two minutes. It's posthumous, because the guy who set it was only one minute and 10 seconds from the ground when he bailed out. But Jim aims to get so high he'll not only have a choice of states to fall on but a choice of planets. Of course, if the chute doesn't open, he may set the underwater dive record at the same time.

Bay Meadows Big Payoff At

SAN MATEO (AP) — Sweet As Canbee, the second longest shot in the $3,000 Royal Corona Ranch Purse, took the lead almost at once and held on for an upset two-length victory yesterday over six muddy furlongs at Bay Meadows.

Mario Valenzuela hustled Sweet As Canbee through the event for 10 fillies and mares in 1:14 1-5, giving a return to her backers of $67.80, $22 and $8.

Palmer-Nicklaus Favored

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI) —Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus were the obvious favorites in the $275,000 PGA national team championship which began today, but Palmer insists that the scoring system being used makes it a wide-open tournament.

Sure, the co-rulers of golf probably will turn in subpar scores. But this richest tournament ever is a best-ball affair and a lot of birdies can go to waste if they are duplicated.

"This is the sort of tournament where it doesn't pay for you and your partner to get hot at the same time," Palmer explained. "You need to make your good shots when he's not going well and hope he'll pick up when you let down.

"Unfortunately," Palmer said, with a grimace, "it just doesn't seem to work out that way as often as you would like."

Thus, as Palmer sees it, there would be nothing unusual about a couple of unsung scramblers grabbing the title and splitting the $50,000 first-place money by spreading out their best holes.

To explain: On each hole, only the score of the partner with the fewest strokes on that particular hole will be counted toward the final total.

It is conceivable that Palmer and Nicklaus could both shoot in the 60s and wind up with a higher team total than the two unknowns who were doing worse individually.

A total of 120 two-man teams, including most of the top golfers in America, was in today's opening field. This total of 240 players is 96 more than normally start off in a pro tournament and it is taking two golf courses here at the palm cluttered PGA National Golf Club to run them all through.

Duffy Has A New Quip For 'AP'

NEW YORK (AP) — Duffy Daugherty, coach of Michigan State's football team, was clowning it up a bit last night when he went to a dinner to be a co-recipient of the MacArthur Bowl.

The bowl is awarded by the Football Foundation and Hall of Fame to the outstanding college football team in the nation. Michigan State and Notre Dame were named co-winners this year, after playing to a 10-10 tie in their head-to-head meeting.

But there are other awards, other determinations, and Duffy took note of them. One of the most important is The Associated Press poll, which dubbed Notre Dame, coached by Ara Parseghian, as the No. 1 team.

"I was in the reception tonight, before the banquet," Duffy said, "and this fellow came up to me and said he's so-and-so from the A-P."

"'A-P,' I said. 'What's that?'

"'The Associated Press,' the guy said.

"Oh," said Duffy. 'I thought it meant 'Ara Parseghian.'"

Virginia Tech 'Win Streak' Is Broken By Wake Forest

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The long arm of reality has pulled sky high Virginia Tech back down to earth.

Floating in the rarified atmosphere of the top 10 following an upset over Duke and victory over Purdue in its first two games, Tech was shot down by 6-foot-2 gunner Paul Long and his Wake Forest teammates 78-75 in overtime last night.

The rude awakening occurred just hours after the surprising Gobblers were ranked 10th among the major college basketball powers.

Only two other members of the top 10—Texas Western and Louisville—saw action on the sparse schedule and the calibre of their opponents caused little fuss. Texas Western, ranked second, crushed East Texas State 61-30 and sixth-ranked Louisville trounced Southwestern Louisiana 107-68.

Long, who led all scorers with 28 points, tallied seven of Wake Forest's nine points in overtime to lead the Deacons to their second triumph in three games. Tech, which trailed most of the game, finally tied the score 69-69 at the end of regulation play on two baskets by sophomore Chris Ellis.

Texas Western's third victory was overshadowed by the suspension of star guard Bobby Joe Hill, who led the Miners to the NCAA title last season with a brilliant performance in the finals against Kentucky.

Coach Don Haskins announced the suspension for "disciplinary reasons" although he did not specify whether the suspension was temporary or permanent.

Tom Kondla scored 29 points, including a key tip-in in the final minute of overtime, to lead Minnesota to a 71-68 victory over Drake . . . Denny Holman sank three free throws in the final minute to give Southern Methodist, which had trailed throughout the game, an 81-78 win over Oklahoma City . . . Rich Cornwall scored 24 points to pace well-balanced Syracuse in a 99-67 rout of Cornell . . . and ballhawk Bill DeAngelis scored 22 points and contributed several key steals in St. Joseph's 86-82 upset of Georgetown.

In other games, Davidson whipped Southern Conference rival Furman 84-71 to hand rookie Coach Frank Selvy his first defeat, Temple thrashed Lehigh 71-50, Princeton defeated Villanoa 48-37, Texas lashed Louisiana State 114-78, Dayton dropped Miami of Ohio 80-71 and Baylor blasted Centenary 91-73.

SAN RAFAEL RECREATION

Christmas Cage Tourney Entries Due This Week

Entries are now being accepted by the San Rafael Recreation Department for the third annual Adult Basketball Christmas Tournament slated to begin Dec. 19.

Total team entry fee for the tournament is $18. The fee must be paid on or before Saturday of this week. Checks should be made payable to the Recreation Department, City Hall, San Rafael.

Teams wishing to practice should contact Ron Koller for the use of the San Rafael or Davidson School gyms.

Brandon Tire and Brookline Electric top the team statistics in the "A" division of the San Rafael Adult Basketball League so far. Brandon has popped in 182 points in three games to lead the offensive stats, although Brookline, by scoring 163 points in two games, is averaging 81.6 per game. Brookline heads the defensive stats by allowing 102 points in two games for a 51.0 allowance per game.

John Osborne of Brookline leads all scorers with 44 points in two games for a 22-point average. Stop N Go Market's Don Hanson is next with 43 points in three games for a 14.7 average.

San Francisco Seminary, with more games than any other team under its belt, leads the "B" statistics. The Seminary team has scored 163 points for three games to lead the offense while Fairchild has the top defensive record by virtue of a 33-point limit in its only outing. The top six "B" scorers are from the San Francisco Seminary, with Vern Alexander heading the list at 39 points and a 13-point average, followed by Russ Gallofay with 35 points.

McGraw Hill heads the Class "C" offensive stats while Green Mill Inn has the defensive edge. McGraw has scored 178 points in three games, good for a 57.6 average while Green Mill has allowed just 79 points for a 26.6 defensive average.

Dick White of San Rafael Post Office leads the tight scoring race with 55 points for a 18-point average followed by Jay McGrath of J. Barth and Company with 54 points, Jim Cook of Marin Kelly with 53 points and John Silver of McGraw Hill with 48 points.

'World' Title Go At Hayward Gym

HAYWARD (AP) — Sharp punching welterweights Percy Manning of Philadelphia and Charley Shipes of Oakland battle tonight in a 15-round match for the world championship, at least the California version.

A non-member of the World Boxing Assn., the California Athletic Commission doesn't recognize Curtis Cokes as the champ but instead will confer its recognition upon the winner of tonight's scrap at the Hayward High School gymnasium.

Promoters expected a throng of 3,500 to turn out for the world championship of California pitting the young Pennsylvanian against the current local state champ who boasts a 29-1 record.

Manning, 24, is ranked No. 2 by WBA among its challengers in the 147-pound division. Shipes was No. 9 last month but his name disappeared this month even though he hasn't lost in the interim. Charley's only defeat came from Mel Ferguson whom he beat in the rematch.

Both are hard punchers and the fight could well end before the 15-round limit. The 30-year-old Shipes has vowed to make the best of his first big opportunity.

The city of Hayward, population 94,300, has gone all-out in helping stage its title fight as promoter Bill Young hopes for a sellout in the 3,500-seat gym.

With a second thought, however, Williams wishes it had been staged in the new Oakland Arena nearby. "I think," he says, "We could have drawn more."

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees has hammered home runs from both sides of the plate in a single game on 10 different occasions.

Marin Hosts J.C. Tourney This Week

A little battered after a three-game, three-loss feet-wetter last week, the College of Marin Tars get back into the cage wars tomorrow through Saturday when they host the Marin Invitational Basketball Tournament.

The guests could turn out to be nothing but trouble. Included in the list are Golden Valley Conference members Napa, Santa Rosa, Yuba and Sierra as well as Laney, American River and Solano.

The Tars draw Sierra in a first-round game tomorrow night at 9. That game will be preceded by a Napa-Laney fray at 3 p.m., an American River-Santa Rosa battle at 5 and a Yuba-Solano clash at 7.

First round consolation games will be played at 3 and 5 p.m. Friday, and semi-finals at 7 and 9 p.m. Friday. The Consolation Finals are slated for 5 p.m. Saturday, followed by the runner-up game at 7 p.m. and the championship game at 9 p.m.

The Tars (0-3 on the season) are in the same bracket as Sierra (0-2), Yuba (1-1), and Solano (1-3), while Napa (0-2), Laney (1-0), American River (1-1) and Santa Rosa (0-2) make up the bottom bracket.

Although the Tars have lost their first three games by no uncertain margins, Marin coach Cal Riemcke is not too unhappy. It has happened before and the Tars have gone on to win the Golden Valley Crown after a grueling pre-conference schedule.

"I'm never really unhappy when we lose because we try too hard," he explained. "The boys know about our tradition here of having good basketbell teams. They were tight and pushed too hard and we just couldn't hit."

Ironically, the biggest pasting the Tars have taken, a 51-79 loss to Foothill, also produced a moment that may be the picture of things to come, if things go right.

"Early there in the second half, before everybody fouled out, our press was working real well, Riemcke said. "We were forcing them into mistakes but we still weren't hitting."

Riemcke thinks that Brad Luz, the Tars' 6-9 transfer center, will turn into a basketball player.

"He's an intelligent boy," Riemcke said. "He works hard, he's learning, he can shoot. He's got to get used to a few things, be a little quicker. But I think he'll help us."

The work of the Tar trio of guards made up of Bill Pandiani, Bob Phillips and Russ Smith, has pleased Riemcke.

Phillips hit 12 against Diablo and 13 against Foothill, while Pandiani chipped in with 11 points against Diablo before fouling out and Smith had a 20-point night against San Mateo and a 10-point performance against Foothill after exepriencing a frigid night against Diablo.

"I figure Tom Stetson will play better," Riemcke said. "He's had the flu and he played the Diablo game with a bad ankle. I know he can do the job as soon as he comes around. And Terry Overlid is going to get better, too."

"I think primarily it's a matter of the boys getting used to playing together," he added. "This is a new team. They'll come around after a few more games."

Ray Patterson Loses Fight And Two Teeth

LONDON (UPI) —England's Billy Walker, decked in the fourth round, came back to knock out two of Ray Patterson's front teeth before stopping the New York heavyweight last night in the eighth round at the Royal Albert Hall.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1808, James Madison won the United States presidential election, defeating Charles Pickney.

In 1931, President Herbert Hoover refused to see a group of "hunger-marchers" at the White House.

In 1941, Japan struck American bases in the Pacific, bombing Pearl Harbor, the Philippines, Wake and Guam islands and the British possessions of Singapore and Hong Kong, drawing the United States into World War II.

In 1965, the historic three-year ecumenical council of the Roman Catholic Church closed after agreeing upon modification of certain rules of the church.

A thought for the day — President Franklin Roosevelt said: "Never before have we had so little time in which to do so much."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

No Need To Sacrifice Against Poor Opposition

The most productive bid does not always depend on the cards you hold or the skill of your partner.

You must also consider the bridge ability of your opponents.

CLOSE BID

East came close to bidding two hearts at his first turn and even closer to bidding four hearts later.

He decided not to encourage a sacrifice bid of five hearts because South was an inexperienced player.

East's timid bidding paid off when South found a way to go down at four spades.

Declarer ruffed the opening heart lead in dummy and then began to draw trumps with the ace and king. When the trumps failed to break, South was down two for a penalty of 200 points.

Against a more reliable declarer East would have raised hearts at some stage. West would probably be doubled at five hearts, thus losing 200 points instead of making a profit.

SHOULD MAKE

South should, of course, make the game and rubber by a more careful line of play. After ruffing the first heart in dummy declarer should play a low trump from each hand.

This allows East to win, and the switch to clubs would give the defenders two more tricks.

DEFENSE PLAN

The defense would end there, however. No matter what is led, South can win, draw trumps with the ace-king-queen and then run the diamonds.

A sacrifice bid is useful only when it costs very little and when the opponents would have made their contract. Avoid sacrificing against an unskillful player.

DAILY QUESTION

♠ A K Q 7 4
♥ J 7 2
♦ 10 7 6
♣ K 6.

What do you say?

Answer: Pass.

Since your distribution is balanced you should not expect to make a game against a no-trump opening bid. Hence you stand to gain only a part score by bidding and may run into a severe penalty if the hand at your left has three or four spades and 8 or more points.

More Money For Weather Reports

LONDON (UPI) —Parliament is studying a report urging that the government charge more money for providing weather information. A parliamentary committee decided after a six-month study of weather forecasting costs that airlines, agricultural organizations and others which depend heavily on precise weather information aren't paying enough for the service. John Public will still get his weather forecasts free, however.

Don't Always Trust The Broker In Cheap Buys

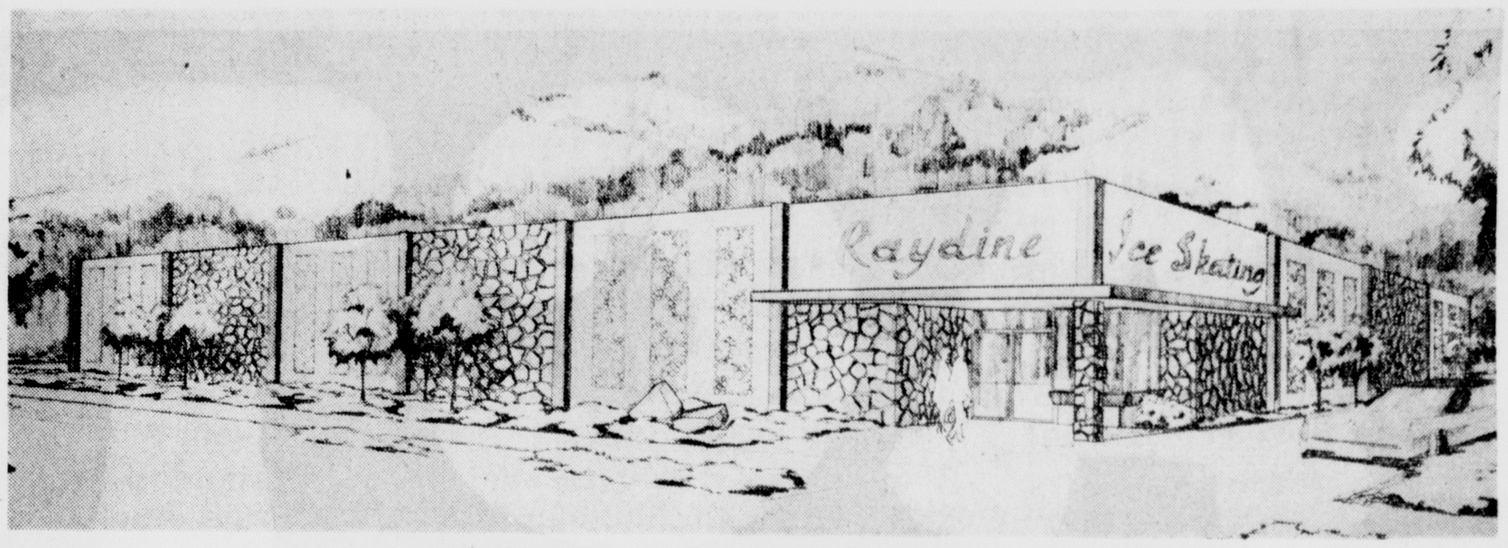
By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "Will you please give me your opinion of Technicolor on the American Stock Exchange? My broker is urging me to get some. I have never before bought a cheap stock like this." M. M.

A. Nor should you start doing so now, in my opinion. I believe your broker is ill-advised to urge you, with your list of stocks, to take on a low-priced speculative situation. Technicolor's earnings, in the 39 weeks ended last Sept. 24, were off 40 per cent to 66 cents a share.

Q. "Can you help me to select a good bond? I am told that these obligations offer good security and yield and less downside fluctuation than common stocks." R. C.

A. You have been correctly informed. Good bonds are the safest of all securities, and they now sell around their best yield levels in 40 years. They may work lower in price if money rates continue to harden, but they seem safe from further important decline. I suggest Southern California Edison 1st 6⅛s of 1991, rated AA, yielding 5.86 per cent and nonredeemable as a whole before 1971. When you buy a bond, you must remember that you get good fixed income but no protection at all against inflation.



$164,000 Building for Corte Madera Ice Skating Center

Stocks Show Good Advances At Closing

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed substantially higher in active trading today.

Changes of key issues ranged from fractions to 2 points and more. Some of the more volatile stocks made wider moves.

Volume for the day was estimated at 8.8 million shares, compared with 7.67 mililon yesterday.

The biggest block of shares ever traded on the New York Stock Exchange changed hands when 497,500 shares of Alcan crossed the tape at 26¾, up ⅜.

Eastman Kodak spurted more than 4 points, helping to push up the averages. Du Pont, which had been ahead more than a point, showed a fractional loss.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Construction To Start Soon On New Ice Skating Rink

Weather permitting, construction will begin shortly on a new $164,000 building in Corte Madera for Raydine Ice Skating, which has been operated for the past 11 years on Greefield Avenue by Ray and Nadine Schramm.

William H. McDevitt Co. is doing the work under its package building plan which includes design, engineering, construction and landscaping in one lump sum contract. The building will be at 10 Fifer Avenue, in Corte Madera's Fifer Industrial Park. It will contain 14,000 square feet with a rink 70 feet by 140 feet — about double the present rink size. There will be parking lot for 28 cars.

Meanwhile Raydine continues in San Anselmo where the Schramms are now in the process of taking reservations for their winter term. The new rink should be ready by the latter part of spring.

NEW MANAGER of Coca Cola Bottling Co. in San Rafael is Frank Butler, former manager of Coca Cola Bottling Co. of California at San Francisco. He will also be responsible for overall management of the Santa Rosa plant. A native of Delaware, Butler has been associated with the San Francisco plant since 1945 and has been manager since 1959.

San Rafael and Santa Rosa plants were sold to Coca Cola Bottling Co. of California last July.

White

CHARLES S. WHITE of Tiburon, export manager of Tar Gard and Venturi Companies, has been elected vice president-international of this smoking accessories manufacturing firm. He has been with the organization 30 months—previously was export manager of a Portland, Ore. photo products firm.

TWO TAMALPAIS VALLEY MEN have new positions at Soyster and Orenschall, Inc., San Francisco package design and marketing firm. Edwin Ewry has been promoted to creative design deirector. Allan Toivonen has been promoted to supervisor of packaging materials and methods.

RUSSELL L. MELQUIST of Novato has joined McBee Systems of Litton Industries as a systems salesman at the San Francisco office. He was formerly with Redmond and Co., San Rafael real estate firm.

GRANT ROBBINS of Mill Valley, head of the San Francisco public relations firm bearing his name, has had his company designated as one of two San Francisco public relations organizations "most frequently mentioned" in a nation-wide survey by PR Reporter, a trade newsletter. The public relations department of Lennen and Newell, advertising was the other. They were selected from a field of 1,700 ad agencies and departments.

FACTS!

WE HAVE BEEN IN MARIN COUNTY LONG ENOUGH TO KNOW THAT MARIN SHOPPERS CANNOT BE FOOLED BY LOOSELY USED CLAIMS OF LOW PRICES BY OUR COMPETITION!

We at UNITED would not dare insult the intelligence of our Marin County shoppers by making any such loose claims. SO! We check our competitors weekly and have proof positive that our prices are as low as any–and lower than many! We know that our quality and selection are beyond reproach, particularly our Fresh Meat and Fresh Produce. We at United do not have a whole flock of highly paid executives to satisfy nor a multitude of stockholders screaming for a dividend! Ours is a family owned, personally directed, hometown institution. We at UNITED are interested in our customers because not only are they our customers, but also our neighbors . . . . You see!! We at UNITED have our home office in Marin County, and we also have our family homes in Marin. We at UNITED just love our homes, our neighbors, our customers and the whole county! We at UNITED invite you to compare our prices and quality and ask you to be the judge!

And who is "We at United"?

Pearl Harbor Tragedy— Was Sacrifice In Vain?

Through no fault of their own, members of our armed forces serving in Viet Nam occupy a uniquely unpleasant place in American history.

Every other major combat action in which the United States was engaged has had nearly 100 per cent support on the home front.

The current action in Viet Nam, the lone exception, has substantially less than full support from Americans at home.

In all previous wars, the terms "combat veteran" and "hero" were synonymous. All those who returned from overseas service were accorded at least some measure of a hero's welcome.

In this war, we find such contemptuous actions on the home front as solicitation of money and supplies to be sent to the aid of the enemy.

If those who died at Pearl Harbor 25 years ago today were aware of what is going on now, they would surely ask themselves whether their supreme sacrifice in World War II had been in vain.

We hope the time will soon come when our men in Viet Nam can count on the full support of Americans back home, and that with such united support, we can bring a successful conclusion to hostilities restoring peace and liberty once more in that far corner of the world.

It Was No Exaggeration

We can always count on critics to seize every opportunity to accuse the press of sensationalizing the news.

The very first press dispatches from Oahu on Dec. 7, 1941, were filed by Associated Press correspondent Eugene Burns, who after the war lived out his life in semi-retirement in Sausalito, until his untimely death in mob violence in Damascus.

Burns was in downtown Honolulu when the first Japanese bombers appeared over the city on that fateful Sunday morning. An isolated bomb or two landed near by.

In the main action at Pearl Harbor, hundreds of planes rained death and destruction to put the entire Pacific Fleet out of commission. But in downtown Honolulu, the man in the street was aware only from personal observation that a few planes had dropped a few scattered bombs.

Correspondent Burns' very first bulletin telephoned from a Honolulu drugstore quoted a bystander as saying, "I'll bet the mainland newspapers are going to exaggerate this."

WATCH OUT FOR "DANGER SIGNALS"

Relatively few young people—less than one out of 20—get into serious trouble with the law.

Even this percentage could be reduced sharply if early symptoms of dissatisfaction were detected and channeled constructively. Among these signs are:

— * Growing disinterest in school, poor attendance, indifference to achievement and questionable companions;

— * Unwillingness to talk about activities and problems;

— * Lack of respect for the rights or property of others;

The continual effort demanded of parents in spotting and remedying such "danger signals" produces a double benefit;

—1. It protects young people from mistakes that can cause irreparable harm to their future usefulness.

—2. It makes it far more likely that, with God's help, they will exert a positive and far-reaching influence among many others.

"Those who lead the many to justice shall be like the stars forever." (Daniel 12:3)

AFFAIRS OF STATE

New Carnival Contract Could Enrich Treasury By $100,000

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — At 5 p.m. on Dec. 13, bids for the conduct of the carnival at the 1967 State Fair and Exposition, the last show scheduled to be held on the old fairgrounds will be opened in the administration offices. Thereby hangs a somewhat interesting tale, which if it ends the way fair officials think it's going to end, will enrich the state treasury by $100,000.

Although in this day and age of billion-dollar financing in state government, the sum of $100,000, comparatively speaking, doesn't amount to much, still every speck in the dust pan is bound to help a little. And with the State Fair having operated on a deficit for a good many years, the $100,000 will have some significance at this last show.

For several years, the carnival, an integral part of the State Fair and Exposition, has been operated by a combine of shows, and the contract has been handled at least in part by Bobby Cohen, who is well-known in Sacramento among the politically elite.

THE LAST CONTRACT, which runs out this year, was for a three-year period, and returned the state $150,000 annually.

On the retirement of Theodore Rosequist as secretary and general manager of the fair and exposition, he was offered and accepted a job with the North American Carnival Assn., some of whose members participate in the fair contract.

When Harrison Cutler, the energetic new secretary-manager, took over from Rosequist, he realized the state could obtain more money for the carnival contract. He conferred with the office of general services, which supervises fair contracts, and a decision was reached to open the expiring contract to general bid for all carnival companies, at a consideration of not less than $250,000, rather than the $150,000 obtained in previous years.

THIS DECISION brought immediate repercussions from Rosequist and the North American Carnival Assn.

The former fair manager "ordered" members of the association not to submit bids on the grounds that the demand of the state was too high to insure a reasonable profit.

He charged the Department of General Services had abused its authority in lifting the minimum requirements and declared that the department had by-passed the State Fair Board of Directors.

And he also indicated that the carnival association operated the only "clean" carnivals available.

CUTLER, HOWEVER, isn't worried about the outcome of the situation. He is now in Chicago where he is meeting with a number of carnival operators who he says will be more than pleased to bid on the state fair show at the higher figure fixed as a minimum. He anticipates that the fair may get even a better bid than $250,000.

Neither are some members of the fair board, who feel frankly that too much "gravy" has been skimmed off the fairgoers, and that the state could and should experience a higher return from the carnival operators.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Misinformation On Bleach Safety

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As a professional in the field of industrial safety, I applaud your attempt to educate the public on the potential hazards of household products in your Nov. 29 editorial. Unfortunately, however, you are misinformed on the hazards of laundry bleaches. The National Safety Council has been trying for some time to correct the overestimation of the hazards of mixing bleach with other household products.

As a service to your readers, would you please publish the attached brief statement from the National Safety Council publication Family Safety:

". . . These products have been in homes for about 50 years and the incidence of injury is extremely low . . .

". . . It is true that you should not mix bleach with strong acids or ammonia. Ammonia and bleach together produce chloramine gas which is irritating, but which has never been known to cause permanent injury. Combining strong acids — for example, toilet bowl cleaners or rust removers—with bleach could release potentially poisonous chlorine gas; however, the strong odor of chlorine would warn you in time to get away from the fumes without harm.

"There is no danger in mixing bleach with vinegar, which is not acid enough to produce harmful fumes.

Reader Disagrees With Reporter

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Paul Peterzell's thought-provoking "Reporter's Notebook" of Dec. 2 presents some opinions with which I must disagree.

1. "Without a trace of regret, trustees also look to the day, under unification, when Strawberry and East Alto may become part of the Reed District," Mr. Peterzell says. With the present make-up of the County Committee on School District Organization, and the changing political climate in Sacramento, the Mill Valley School District trustees have realistically considered the possibility that Strawberry may become part of the Redwood attendance area, thus separated from Mill Valley if a 3-way-split unification of the Tamalpais High School District is approved.

However, the trustees have repeatedly, and as recently as Nov. 7, 1966, agreed unanimously that they oppose any such split-unification plan.

I am a resident of the part of Strawberry known as "Old Alto," and I personally would have considerably more than a "trace" of regret if this area were to be removed from what is, whatever its deficiencies, still the best school district in Marin County.

2. A majority of the Mill Valley trustees have in recent meetings seemed to favor transferring the west side of Tennessee Valley to the Sausalito School District. This will not be voted on until Dec. 12. Incidentally, there are no children at present in this area. The expected school-child population of the area will be upwards of eight hundred, not one hundred as reported.

The trustees agreed on Nov. 21, 1966, that it was desirable for the entire Tennessee Valley to be in one school district (either Mill Valley or Sausalito) to make possible logical and economical planning and use of schools in the valley.

They also agreed that if Sausalito trustees felt annexation would tend to improve "racial balance" in their district that this was a very important consideration. On Nov. 28 the Sausalito trustees stated that improving the "racial balance" in the Sausalito District was still their primary reason for wanting to annex the Mill Valley part of Tennessee Valley. They said, moreover, that they intend to continue full integration in all Sausalito District schools, including any built in Monticello or Tennessee Valley.

3. A master plan for the schools has been prepared and is outlined in board minutes of Jan. 24 and Oct. 1, 1966. This includes a 6-7-8 grade school at Camino Alto and the continuation of our present "neighborhood" K-5 schools with a minimum size of 300 children, 450 and up preferred. Edna Maguire would become a K-5 school and Alto a center for administration and other district-wide functions. The trustees are waiting for advice from architects to decide whether our present schools can be economically upgraded and added to, or whether one or more schools should be "phased out" as others are modernized.

As to "informal suggestions by some trustees" that "all district schools could be grouped in a 'campus' at Project 17 someday", it should be noted that trustees (and their "informal suggestions") have no authority except at board meetings; and the trustees at their meeting of Jan. 24, 1966, agreed formally that "the board is not considering construction of an educational park." . . .

WILLIAM L. CLARK, MD.
Chairman, Board of Trustees, Mill Valley Elementary School District.

Toll Free Span Is One Solution

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Anent the editorial of Nov. 30th captioned "Improved Bus Service Will Relieve Freeways," I very much doubt if this can be proved. In all the metropolitan areas I have visited the lack of or the excellence of the mass transportation facilities seems to have little or no effect on highway congestion. Those that can afford it prefer the convenience of driving themselves, regardless of cost and risk of life and limb.

Until I retired four years ago, I was a daily commuter to San Francisco from Marin County, but since then make the trip as infrequently as possible. However, on the past two successive Mondays it was my luck to be compelled to go to (and through) San Francisco at the height of the commuter rush. I noted that the traffic moved at a reasonable pace until the "back-up" occasioned by stopping to pay tolls created an artificial bottleneck with the tail end of the bumper-to-bumper crawl stretching back to between San Rafael and Corte Madera.

As an immediate solution to the existing problem I suggest that the Golden Gate Bridge be made toll free. Actually, the efficacy of this plan could be tested for a month without spending the millions of dollars to try out a scheme for Improved Bus Service.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

RICHARD PERRY, whose book about polar bears is attracting wide attention, has some advice for any "Try and Stop Me" readers who are likely to encounter a polar bear in the course of their daily goings and comings. "If the bear chases you," suggests Mr. Perry, "just stand still. Let him sniff you. After a sniff or two, he'll lose interest. Man's scent is not attractive to polar bears."

We'll take Mr. Perry's word for this.

THE FATHER of an 18-year-old co-ed phoned her dormitory one night at about ten to remind her that the next day was her mother's birthday, and was shocked, to put it mildly, when a male voice answered the call. "Don't be upset," counseled the male voice. "We've been meaning to tell you. Your daughter and I are engaged.

OF ALL definitions of eternity ever attempted, CBS's Philip Sterling prefers this one by an old Baptist minister: "Brethern and sisters, if a single sparrow hopped from the Atlantic Ocean to the Pacific Ocean, one hop a day, with a single drop of water in his bill, and then hopped back at the same speed and kept this up until all the water in the Atlantic Ocean was in the Pacific Ocean, then, brethern and sisters, then it would be only daybreak in eternity."

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

New Ground Is Being Broken In Federal Funds To States

WASHINGTON — An important area of agreement is emerging in Washington.

It is on the need for massive infusions of federal money into the states and whether local government can survive the treatment.

This startling concensus—not total but growing—is reflected in recent statements by the powerful Chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee—Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin and by the Secretary of the pervasive Department of Health, Education and Welfare, John W. Gardner.

Laird certainly isn't talking traditional Republican policy. Secretary Gardner certainly isn't talking like a traditional federal bureaucrat.

Laird candidly told the national conference of state legislative leaders that the old Republican practice of waiting around to see whether the states and cities can themselves solve their massive problems is outdated.

"THAT FORMULA is unworkable," Laird said. "Crime continues to rise, education continues to be inadequate, slums continue to grow worse. More Americans go on the welfare rolls, and government services on the state and local level continue to be underfinanced and in many cases ineffective."

Though he wants changes in the way the federal government helps the states and cities, Laird—a Conservative—agrees that mounting federal assistance is needed "if the quality of American life" is not to deteriorate.

Secretary Gardner would certainly agree. And Gardner himself in his testimony before the Senate Committee on Government Operations cited the danger of the "complete subordination" of weak state and local governments through the increasingly large sums of money flowing to them from Washington. "All state and local governments would then be mere branch offices of one all-dominating national government," he warned.

HE CITED ANOTHER way the same thing could happen; that is, the federal government, impatient with the inadequacies of many state and local governments, might begin to create its own network of local instrumentalities. "State and local governments might then become vestigial—an outcome I would regard as most regrettable," Gardner said.

No conventional bureaucrat, Gardner was unconventionally frank in acknowledging that decisions as to how the federal government shall manage its programs — whether in ways which strengthen or ways which undermine state and local government—"are often made with on consciousness of what is at stake."

Laird would certainly agree.

The area of agreement grows thin not over whether the federal government must help the states and cities, but how. Here Gardner is least clear. He says it can be done, he speaks of "a healthy partnership" but says state and local government must be strengthened.

Laird is frank to say that "Many of the ills of our society are not being solved at the local and state level." Laird disputes those federal officials who believe the problems remain unsolved because the state and local people cannot solve them.

He contends that these problems remain unsolved because state and local government lack resources to tackle them —resources the federal government has dried up.

Laird's alternative to vast federal grants-in-aid is federal revenue-sharing with the states and with the fewest possible strings.

Curious Story On Mystery Russian

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON—One of the most curious pieces of information uncovered by the Warren Commission during its investigation of President Kennedy's assassination was an extraordinary statement volunteered by a Russian.

This "Mr. X," seemingly nervous and uneasy, appeared unexpectedly at the U.S. embassy in Moscow some six months after the Dallas murder. To embassy officials he claimed to have known Lee Harvey Oswald and his wife, Marina, when they lived in the Soviet.

In penciled notes the Russian left at the embassy, now among the more than 20,000 "working papers" given the National Archives by the Warren Commission, Oswald is linked to Jack Ruby, his slayer, and the KGB, Soviet secret police.

THESE REMARKABLE notes and covering correspondence, and an analysis by embassy officials, were extensively censored by the State Department with the Warren Commission's approval.

The Warren Commission attempted to get at the bottom of the Russian's strange story. Both the FBI and CIA dug into the matter, but with no success. The probers were unable to either confirm or disprove this perplexing information.

HOWEVER, AMONG the commission's records in the National Archives is an FBI report that Oswald corresponded with a GBK official in the Soviet embassy in Washington after returning to the U.S.

Also in the commission's records is a CIA document stating that the Soviet diplomat in Mexico City with whom Oswald had a meeting shortly before the assassination was the top KGB official in the embassy there.

Following are the principal items in this file, consisting of the heavily censored notes left by the mysterious Russian, the State Department's correspondence and the report of the embassy official who talked to him.

On the stationery of the embassy in Moscow, a one-page letter reads as follows—with the censored portions indicated by blank spaces:

"DEAR . . .

"In sum, . . . as a former acquaintance of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald in 1960 in Gorky: 1. maintained that Oswald knew Ruby, at least in 1960; 2. believed Oswald was under the influence of the KGB; 3. presumed Mrs. Oswald was a KGB agent, and 4. said a group of people in the U.S., probably Communists, helped in the assassination.

"We agree these are incredible statements but felt they must be passed on, and in this form, due to the sensitivity of the subject. Both . . . agree that . . . gave the appearance of being genuine . . . It's conceivable that some of his statements might check out with information available in Washington but not here.

"He stuck to his story and never contradicted himself, although his tale was long and circuitous. He insisted that it all took place in Gorky, even though he knew the Oswalds had been in Byelorussia most of the time. This physical location might jibe with facts in the case but we can remember no connection with that city.

Sincerely yours,

"True copy with deletions as indicated."

Water, Water Go Away And Come Back Another Day . . .

Drainage, drainage go away . . .

Drainage problems become specific as soon as the rains start and the usual places fill up with water. Some newcomers in the area comment on Tiburon's unsolved drainage problems as being two or three years old.

Oldtimers in Belvedere or Tiburon will tell you drainage was a problem much farther back. Early pictures in "Glimpses" (Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society publication) show Corinthian Island Drawbridge into which arks sailed in the fall to winter in the old lagoon. Come summer, the arks sailed back out to Belvedere Cove. Other early pictures show flat lands of downtown Tiburon completely flooded. Rain has been pouring down the same hills for many years.

AS THE FLAT LANDS were gradually filled, holding ponds on the railroad yard and below Judge Field helped contain some of the flood water. When developments progressed along Tiburon Boulevard, however, the lower holding pond was diminished to its present size. Water flooding onto the boulevard across from Safeway was named "Zelinsky Lake" in honor of the developer. The holding pond above collected fill and weeds which choked its capacity.

The bay's tide affects flooding along Tiburon Boulevard. (It also creates monstrous waves over Beach Road in Belvedere during storms!)

The boulevard can be flooded completely at noon on a rainy day, then drain almost free of water when the tide goes out.

THERE IS A DIVISION of interests and responsibilities in the peninsula's drainage problems. The firehouse on Tiburon Boulevard is now one of the lowest spots in town since subsequent developments have built higher. Firemen worry about their alarm systems being knocked out by flooding rainwater.

People who live in the hills are less concerned with downtown flooding. Both Belvedere and Tiburon City Councils are presently studying ways to solve some of their drainage questions. The State Division of Highways is only interested in Tiburon Boulevard being "traversible."

ONE PROBLEM THAT has been given many variations began in 1963 when Zelinsky applied to the county for a use permit for retail stores on the site now occupied by Safeway.

The original agreement was extended once in 1964 and twice in 1965 The City of Tiburon inherited it by virtue of incorporation. In both Belvedere and Tiburon the comment has been heard that "Tiburon has let Zelinsky off the hook" on the required drainage.

"Not true," says Tiburon's City Mgr. Larry Rose. Rose says Zelinsky was never obliged for the whole amount of the $38,000 bond he put up with the county, but only for the cost of the drainage. In place of a bond from Zelinsky, Tiburon now holds cash amounts of $12,600 for Safeway drainage and $9,000 for Tiburon Lodge drainage, which Rose says can be used in the major drainage system being evolved by Tiburon. A thorough study of the downtown Tiburon watershed drainage was made by McCready-Koretsky in July, 1965.

A SMALL BEGINNING was made this fall when Tiburon agreed to clean out and deepen the holding pond below Judge Field. Belvedere is improving a drainage ditch near the Cove-Lagoon roads intersection with Tiburon Boulevard and is working with Cove Road residents to improve another ditch that drains into the lagoon.

To those with flood waters at the door this progress seems infinitely slow.

But there is one hard fact we will all face in the future. Drainage solutions are temporary—at least in Tiburon. So long as there is room for development downtown and even on the hills, drainage patterns are subject to change.

In Viet Nam, It's A Problem To Really Know Our Enemies

WASHINGTON — "Do you know what one of the troubles with the Viet Nam war is?" a colonel in the Pentagon asked me the other day.

"I'm sure I don't," I said in all honesty.

"We can't make an enemy out of the enemy."

I thought about this for a few minutes and then I said, "How's that again?"

"Just what I said. It's impossible to describe the enemy in terms that will get to the American people emotionally."

"You mean we can't call them yellow bellies as we did the Japanese in World War II?" I said.

"EXACTLY. Nor can we refer to them in racial terms, because the people on our side look exactly the same as the people on their side."

"I never thought about that," I said.

"The problem is how do you portray the Viet Cong in photographs and movies for what they really are without offending the South Vietnamese at the same time?"

"Through atrocities, of course," I replied. "Can't you show the Viet Cong committing atrocities against the South Vietnamese people?"

"It's awfully difficult," he said, "because our television cameraman and still photographers only take pictures of the atrocities we commit, but never get any shots of the ones the Viet Cong commit."

"THE SOLUTION then would be to get our cameramen attached to the Viet Cong," I said.

"It's a good suggestion," the colonel said, "but every time we ask Hanoi if we can have our camera crews cover their operations, they say we can't until we stop the bombing."

"And we can't stop the bombing," I said.

"Of course not. At least not until they stop raping and pillaging the South Vietnamese villages."

"Which nobody will believe they're doing because we have no pictures?"

"THAT'S THE difficulty. We don't even have any good films of the North Vietnamese in Hanoi calling for the raping and pillaging of South Viet Nam. Remember in World War II those wonderful shots of Hitler, Goebbels and Goering screaming oaths at the Allies?"

"How could anyone forget?"

"And those pictures of Tojo in Tokyo?" he said.

"They were worth thousands of words."

"Well, we haven't been able to get any shots of Ho Chi Minh that show him looking like anything except a starving Santa Claus."

"You can't get the people riled up about that," I admitted.

"Isn't it possible to make the Viet Cong wear uniforms so we can tell them apart from the good guys?"

"THAT'S ANOTHER problem we have. The Viet Cong don't wear uniforms. They look just like everybody else in Viet Nam."

"Why don't we send a bombing mission over the Viet Cong areas and drop World War II Nazi uniforms on them?" I asked. "You can't help but hate someone in a Nazi uniform."

"We've thought about it, but the Viet Cong are too small. The uniforms would never fit them, and they'd probably use the helmets for bathtubs," he replied.

"Well, at least it taught us a lesson."

"What's that?"

"We should never get into a war where the people on both sides look alike."

British Stocks Rally Over African Rumors

LONDON (UPI)—The British pound sterling bounced back on the foreign exchange market today and the stock market staged a sharp recovery in the wake of rumors that South African Prime Minister John Vorster might mediate the Rhodesian crisis.

But the air of crisis remained and Prime Minister Harold Wilson faced a fierce opposition attack at opening of a two-day debate in the House of Commons with many Asian and African Commonwealth members demanding an oil embargo.

British Foreign Secretary George Brown was in New York for behind-the-scene talks before a United Nations Security Council session tomorrow. He planned to ask for compulsory sanctions designed to bring Rhodesian Premier Ian Smith and his rebel all-white minority government to its knees.

Brown was under direct orders from the British government to oppose an oil embargo that might bring Britain into direct conflict with South Africa with which Britain did nearly $1 billion in trade last year. African spokesmen are calling for such an embargo at United Nations headquarters today.

Vorster, in a statement yesterday, dropped a broad hint to Wilson he should modify his peace terms rejected in toto by Rhodesia. There was no indication Wilson would do so and no confirmation that Vorster might step in as mediator.

Nevertheless, the rumors acted as a shot-in-the-arm to both the pound sterling and to the stock market which had lost millions of pounds in paper value yesterday immediately after Smith announced his rejection of Wilson's terms.

A new call for the use of force against Rhodesia came today from Georgetown where Guyana's Prime Minister Forbes Burnham said the only answer to Smith's illegal regime was the use of force. He said selective sanctions would serve little purpose and demanded a total embargo in imports of oil into Rhodesia and all forces including South Africa.

The Burnham statement forecast a sharp fight in the U.N. Security Council with Britain trying to protect its trade with South Africa at a time of grave economic crisis in Britain itself.

Poster Contest Winners Told

Five Marin County children have won cash prizes in the Redwood Region Conservation Poster Contest and will compete in the Western International Keep Green Poster Contest at the 57th Western Forestry Contest in Portland, Ore., today and tomorrow.

The winners are Julie Pinckard, 256 Karen Way, Steve Hoffmire, 583 Virginia Drive, both from Tiburon and Bel Aire School; Les Crowder of 355 Canal Street, San Rafael, Bahia Vista School; Cindy Yarling, 12 Oakmont Avenue, San Rafael, West End School, and Sue Jackson, 1 Circle Drive, Ross, Ross Grammar School.

Julie Pinckard, Les Crowder and Steve Hoffmire won first, third and fourth places in the contest's primary grade category. Cindy Yarling and Sue Jackson won second and third places in the intermediate category.

Bridge Light Survey Ordered

Bridge engineer Arthur C. Jenkins requested that the "archaic" sodium vapor lights installed in 1937 be replaced. He said the illumination is dim, and driving is hazardous. A study made two years ago indicated that the cost of replacement would be $300,000 to $400,000.

Directors asked Jenkins to update that cost survey.

Terra Linda Annexation Hearing Set

Directors of the Terra Linda Community Services District last night scheduled a public hearing for 9 p.m. Dec. 22 at the firehouse on proposed annexation of 5.6 acres of Terra Linda Terrace, on the south boundary of the district.

The annexation was approved by the Local Agency Formation Commission Nov. 3.

District secretary Leo D. Murray reported that owners can force an election on the annexation through written protest at the hearing. Owners did not protest before the LAFC.

Another Boston Gangland Slaying

REVERE, Mass. (AP) — A volley of shots apparently fired from two passing cars today killed Joseph D'Amico, 27, of Boston, in what police said was the 36th gangland killing in Greater Boston in 2½ years.

Police said D'Amico was a passenger in a car driven by James Kerns, 28, of Boston. Kerns was charged with being an accessory after the fact of murder.

Kerns was found wandering around the car after it crashed. He was taken to Massachusetts General Hospital where he was charged and treated for a wound of the right cheek.

Doctors said they did not know if Kern's injury occurred in the crash or whether it was a bullet wound.

Progress Made In Pilot Talks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Negotiators for National Airlines and the Airline Pilots Assn. made progress yesterday in talks aimed at averting a strike Dec. 15, according to a federal mediator.

"A large number of issues—nearly 90—remain open," Everett Edwards of the National Mediation Board, said. "It will take some time to get all problems settled."

A contract for National's 426 pilots expired December, 1965, and negotiations began then. The airlines operates 10 daily flights between San Francisco, Miami and intermediate cities.
